AMID a severe fund crunch and the burden of additional loans, Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa on Monday presented the State's first budget post the pandemic impact, with a total outlay of ₹2,46,207 crore. The budget size is ₹8,314 crore more than the previous year.

In a first for Karnataka in decades, Yediyurappa presented a revenue-deficit budget with the deficit pegged at ₹15,133.60 crore for 2021-2022. As reported earlier by The New Indian Express, revised estimates for the fiscal year 2020-21 showed that the pandemic-hit year also is set to end in a revenue deficit of ₹19,485.84 crore.

Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa presents the state budget for 2021, amid a walkout by Congress, at Vidhana Soudha in Bengaluru on Monday | EXPRESS

Despite increased borrowings, estimated at about ₹71,462 crore, and revenue receipts expected to be lower than 2020-21 by ₹7,649 crore, Yediyurappa chose not to increase excise or fuel tax. Karnataka's GSDP contracted by 2.6 per cent in 2020-21. While agriculture saw 6.4 per cent growth, the industrial and services sectors saw contraction by 5.1 per cent and 3.1 per cent, respectively.

Like last year, the CM clubbed departments under umbrella sectors, instead of making departmental allocation. The highlight of the budget remained Yediyurappa's special mention of cross-sectoral women-oriented schemes, funds and incentive programmes with a compiled grant of ₹37,188 crore.

Aimed at commemorating International Women's Day, Yediyurappa dedicated 18 points in his budget in the form of assurances and schemes for women including ₹5 crore for Elevate WomEN, a programme to support women entrepreneurs apart from loans up to ₹2 crore with subsidised interest rate for those in the services sector and concessional bus passes for women garment factory workers among others.

"Despite the distress situation and shortfall in revenue, we have managed all committed expenditures. All existing programmes will also continue," Yediyurappa said.

Incidentally, the budget has also proposed to restart 'Anugraha', a flagship scheme of Siddaramaiah. While last year's budget focused on funds for mutts, Yediyurappa has set aside ₹500 crore for 16 boards and corporations, while ₹500 crore will be given to a yet-to-be-established Vokkaliga development board. The allocation is on par with the ₹500 crore announced for the Veerashaiva-Lingayat development board, of which ₹100 crore will be spent this year.

While Yediyurappa has committed to speeding up some big-ticket irrigation projects, subsidies and concessions for entrepreneurs and farmers also find prominent mention in the budget. About seven new policies, including on cybersecurity, defence manufacturing, data centres, self-help groups, etc, setting up of two clusters and 12 industrial parks — Plastic park, Food park, Ecotourism park, Tree parks, Signature Business park, Solar park, etc., have been proposed.

"In Karnataka, ₹5,372 crore has been spent for the management of Covid-19 and 63.59 lakh beneficiaries from different sectors have been given help," Yediyurappa said while recounting the challenges his government faced during the pandemic.

TEMPORARY STAY FACILITIES FOR CONSTRUCTION WORKERS

BENGALURU: During the pandemic-induced lockdown last year, Karnataka witnessed hundreds of construction labourers heading back to their villages within and outside the state. Realising the problems faced by them, the Karnataka Building and Other Construction Workers' Welfare Board will construct four well-furnished residential complexes for temporary stay in Bengaluru Urban and Rural districts, one each in Mysuru, Shivamogga, Hubballi, Kalaburgi, Ballari, Hassan, Davanagere, Gadag and Chamarajanagar districts.

Space the new frontier for defence policy

RAMU PATIL @ Bengaluru

TO stay ahead of competition, the State Government is coming up with a new Defence and Aerospace Policy that will focus on attracting investment in the sector. Karnataka was the first state to come out with an aerospace policy in 2013, and the new proposal is intended to factor in developments in the last eight years as well as emerging sectors.

Karnataka has a share of over 65 per cent in exports from the defence and aerospace sectors. The latest move is aimed at maintaining that lead and lay emphasis on indigenous production under the Atma Nirbhar Bharat Abhiyan, Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa said on Monday, while presenting the State Budget 2021-22 at the Vidhana Soudha.

"Since 2013, a lot of developments have taken place and most of the sourcing is happening from here. We are looking at expanding the policy to include recent developments in the field of small-scale industries, new advancements like drones, missiles, space and other sectors," Additional Chief Secretary, Industries and Commerce Department, Gaurav Gupta, told The New Indian Express.

CHETANA BELAGERE @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister B S Yediyurappa presented a women's special budget on International Women's Day, with a slew of announcements and allocations for their empowerment and safety. Interestingly, the CM began his budget speech by announcing a total grant of ₹37,188 crore for women-centric programmes.

The CM focused on programmes to assist working women and encourage entrepreneurship. From brick-and-mortar and e-markets for products made by women entrepreneurs, the budget focused on not just health care, wellness and service sectors, but has announced assistance for women entrepreneurs manufacturing papads, pickles, roti, and spices, among others.

Support will be provided for 6,000 micro-enterprises under Rural Development and Panchayati Raj Department to generate employment for 60,000 women.

Branding and online marketing assistance for such enterprises will also be given to women. "Women setting up businesses in the services sector can get up to ₹2 crore loan at 4 per cent interest from the Women's Development Corporation or Karnataka State Finance Corporation. To help expand the market, products of women entrepreneurs will be exhibited for a week at the half-yearly marketing fairs in major cities like Bengaluru, Belagavi, Mysuru and Kalaburagi," he announced.

Also, to encourage women with licences obtained from APMCs, they will be given 10 per cent reservation in allotment of sites and godowns, in the APMC yards.

NO NEW IDEAS IN BUDGET, FUNDS ONLY FOR REPEAT SCHEMES

Focus again on tree parks, transport, garbage; city gets a lion's share

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

AIMING for effective garbage management, Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa made special mention of a separate company for collection, transportation, management and processing of solid waste. However, there is no allocation for any new schemes.

A total of Rs 7,795 crore has been granted for Bengaluru, as against Rs 8,772 crore allocated in 2020-21. Of this, Rs 3,000 crore is for BBMP, and will be utilised for the creation of Nagarothana schemes and ongoing works. It will also be used for development and maintenance of Koramangala Valley (K-100), formation of 57 Janarogya centres at a cost of Rs 10 crore each, and renovation and construction of BBMP schools. There is no mention of Bengaluru Smart City works.

The budget for Bengaluru highlights most of the schemes announced in Mission Bengaluru 2022, like three tree parks. While a 105-acre tree park on NGEF land in Byappanahalli found mention, the Turahalli forest tree park was safely excluded from the budget speech.

There is also a proposal to amend the Karnataka Town and Country Planning Act for quick land acquisition for infrastructure work, simplify issue of TDR for private properties and develop slums. The budget also highlights weekend literary and cultural programmes, Chitra Santhe, exhibition of arts and sculpture and folk programmes in Mallathahalli Kala Grama at a cost of Rs 2 crore, and converting Mysore Lamps Works Limited into an 'Experience Bengaluru' centre.

A sum of Rs 500 crore is allocated for filling up 234 tanks in Bengaluru Urban and Rural, Tumakuru and Chikkaballapura with 308 MLD water processed from Vrushabhavathi Valley second stage project.

To boost Bengaluru's image, the CM announced the Bengaluru Signature Business Park near Kempegowda International Airport, besides expediting work on the second terminal building at KIA.

Officials and experts pointed out that a lion's share was given to improve the city's transport sector. Once again, the budget mentions work on the Peripheral Ring Road by announcing calling of tenders, incorporating the Swiss Challenge method, under PPP. There is also a Rs 850-crore grant for the Suburban Rail project. The CM also announced additional rail services with doubling work on Yeshwanthpur-Channasandra and Byappanahalli-Hosur lines.

The biggest chunk

₹7,795cr	₹3,000cr	₹10cr	₹2cr	₹500cr

Approach towards city is scientific

Happy news for Bengaluru is the government's commitment to strengthen public transport. The significant allocation to the suburban train project and line-doubling between Yeshwanthpur-Channasandra and Baiyappanahalli-Hosur (by 2023); the intent to build airport Metro, no mention of flyovers and not increasing BMTC fares, all point towards a more scientific approach towards mobility in our city that will reduce traffic congestion and improve air quality.

If the pandemic taught us anything, it seems to be largely ignored in this budget. The investment is too little in primary healthcare centres and there is no intent to build affordable housing. Conversion of anganwadi centres to creches is a good idea, but we don't have enough anganwadis in our city. The investment in public schools too seems too little, too late.

It is good to see the focus on tourism in Bengaluru. The onus is on the government to put some serious investment into reviving tourism here as we have the potential and it helps create livelihoods and brings revenues. The government should go all out to attract tourists, as we break free of the pandemic.

The new corporation for solid waste management is against the principles of local self-government. The new BBMP Act 2020 did a disservice to Bengaluru by not merging the parastatals into BBMP and now we have yet another agency to deal with. If it is designed to end the powerful garbage mafia, I cannot see it. No elected council and more parastatals do not reflect well on our city governance.

The Rs 7,795 crore allocation for the development of Bengaluru speaks volumes about the dependency of BBMP on the State Government. What we need is a thriving State Finance Commission, not just Bengaluru but all cities of Karnataka deserve a fair share of revenues based on a scientific formula similar to the Central Finance Commission's.

During every budget, the CM dons the hat of Bengaluru Mayor and reels out various schemes for the city. This must stop and the city should receive its fair share of funds through SFC and then members of BBMP Council and Standing Committee on Taxation and Finance should deliberate on preparing the city budget. That will be the day Bengaluru can truly and proudly claim to be one of the world's most dynamic cities.

Suburban rail gets Rs 850 crore shot in the arm

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

State budget has earmarked Rs 850 crore following Centre's approval of the dedicated Rs 15,767-crore Suburban Railway Project in October 2020.

Railway officials welcomed the move and said it was sufficient to meet the requirements in the first year. A top official of Karnataka Rail Infrastructure Development Enterprises (K-RIDE), the nodal agency for the project, said, "We have begun the process of land acquisition, civil construction, designing of plans and calling tenders."

The number of train services between Bengaluru and surrounding areas will increase after the doubling projects implemented by K-RIDE between Yesvantpur-Channasandra and Baiyappanahalli-Hosur will be ready.

Urban transportation expert Sanjeev Dyamannavar said, "The allocation for the suburban rail is a positive move. However, the State should have come out with a deadline for eliminating the 29 manned railway crossings in the city."

The State government also reiterated that it would spend Rs 2,630 crore to acquire land for seven new railway projects spanning 1,173 km. The overall cost of these projects is Rs 7,984 crore and the state's share will be Rs 3,991 crore.

An official said, "The state is reiterating its commitment towards the acquisition cost. What is laudable is that in the midst of a financially stressed year, it has spelt out it would honour its commitment."

Focus on footbridges at Metro stations

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

WITH access to some Metro stations in Phase-I proving to be difficult for commuters, the government has decided to put up seven foot over bridges (FOBs) for upcoming stations on Hosur Road under Phase-II. The stations at Hebbagodi, Huskur, Electronic City I, Electronic City II, Hosa Road, Chikkabegur and Oxford are all set to be completed by March 2022.

The long FOB connecting Yesvantpur railway station and Metro station, as well as FOBs at KR Puram and Jnanabharati will be readied, Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa stated in the budget.

Two more FOBs on NH-4 that would help access Dasarahalli and Chikkabidarakallu Metro stations too will be in place.

The CM also announced that another 41 km of Metro line would be made operational between June 2021 and December 2022. The Western Extension of the line up to Kengeri will be in place by June 2021 and up to Challaghatta by March 2022; KR Puram to Whitefield, Bommasandra to Bommanahalli and Nagasandra to Chikkabidarakallu by December 2022, said Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Ltd Managing Director Ajay Seth. The budget is an "excellent support for Bengaluru's comprehensive development", he added.

The common card for use on different public transportation modes will be available by August, the CM announced.

PETER VIDAL

09th March: One question people often ask me is whether I can guess their signs! The simple answer is 'no'! Some astrologers do make a good job of guessing signs, but what I find is that I'm so aware that every horoscope contains many different factors that I can't focus on the simple birth sign itself. Many astrologers are like me, so don't expect them to be mind-readers!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Recent career upheavals could still be disappointing, but that's why this is a good time to learn from past mistakes and not repeating them. A friend needs your advice. Perhaps social outings could offer a distraction from more serious concerns.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You can only progress by off-loading certain responsibilities. One of your leading current planetary cycles is known to bring seclusion and meditation, so don't feel compelled to join events you'd rather ignore. You might have to have some good excuses ready.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
There is no point in hoping that imminent planetary aspects are about to remove your doubts, the simple reason being that doubts can be a very good thing! They are the warning signals sent by the sub-conscious to alert you to hazards ahead, so take heed.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Life is full of curious twists and turns. If you now continue on a straight course, you may run into a few difficulties. Be true to your sign and remain ready to duck and weave as circumstances develop and even reliable partners change their minds.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
The overall picture becomes just that extra bit uncertain, but largely because the range of choice is now increasing. Although the solution to today's questions could be financial, take a look at your rights and make sure you're on solid ground.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
It will be difficult for you to continue to ignore all those warning signals, mainly because partners will get more and more emotional if they feel they are not being listened to. You could try humouring people who are upset, and waiting until the stress level drops.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You're not convinced that partners know what they are doing, especially at home. But bearing in mind that this is a moment to try out new ideas and experiment with domestic arrangements, be patient. You might even join in! At least you can offer constructive support.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
The Moon is still in a relatively supportive relationship with your sign, which means that the highs should be higher and the lows briefer than usual. You should pay special attention to all creative ventures, searching out ways to express your unique talents.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
The accent is clearly on personal matters, and if you should suddenly discover masses of things to do outside the home, it could be that you're not facing up to reality. Actually, solutions may be very simple. In fact, the answer may be staring you in the face!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Place your own comfort and security above all else. Unless you have a firm base, you won't feel free to develop your more adventurous schemes. And right now that's just what you should be doing. It may help to talk to people who have a more intuitive approach than you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Sometimes it takes an enormous amount of effort to get yourself out of a rut. That's what you should be doing now. The trap you're in is almost entirely to do with your low self-esteem. You must understand the ways in which this stops you doing your best.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Press on as hard as you can, realising that it is rare that insight and energy combine to such a high degree. However, there seem to be a lot of business matters to sort out, papers to sign and decisions to take, all of which could obscure your vision.

Smiley for moms: 6-month leave for child care

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE budget has some good news for women employees of the state government. On International Women's Day, Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa announced that apart from maternity leave, women employees may soon be able to avail child care leave for six months. "This will be a supplementary step towards the welfare of women who are a very important part of the administrative machinery," the chief minister said.

Appreciating the move, Hemalatha N R, a teacher at a government school, said that if it is implemented, the proposal will be the best thing to happen to women. "Many situations like a child's illness and examinations among others forces us to take leave and many times we have to go under loss of pay. This kind of leave will surely help all women employees of the state government," she added.

COVID FAILS TO SHAKE GOVT, HEALTH ALLOCATION LOW

Focus should have been on mental health in a pandemic year, say experts

Stress on developing infra, with little money for scaling up manpower, creating policies

IFFATH FATHIMA & RANJANI MADHAVAN @Bengaluru

WITH Covid burdening the healthcare infrastructure and manpower in the state, one would have expected a higher budgetary allocation to the public health sector. But it has remained at 4 per cent of the total budgetary spend, though the allocation has improved marginally to ₹11,908 crore from last year's ₹10,122 crore.

This time, the focus is on developing infrastructure, with little money for scaling up manpower and creating policies and schemes. Intensive Care Units of 25-bed and six-bed capacity will be set up at 19 district hospitals, and 100 taluk hospitals over the next two years at ₹60 crore to make use of health facilities created during Covid-19 pandemic.

Primary Health Centres (PHCs), which experience higher work pressure, will be upgraded to model PHCs, stage-by-stage, to provide additional services and modern facilities. They will get the required equipment and also see rationalising of available manpower.

Dr H Sudarshan Ballal, Chairman, Manipal Hospitals, said that while the government has allocated more funds for healthcare this year, in general, the public healthcare expenditure in the country has been low. "However, in view of the economic devastation from the pandemic and the crunch of funds, this seems to be a reasonable budget," he said, rating it 7 out of 10.

"With the continued upgradation of oxygen beds, ICU beds, isolation beds and testing facilities, the budgetary allocation for these could have been higher to fight any future pandemics," he said.

The budget also includes ₹10 crore to set up laboratories in Ballari and Bengaluru and to detect hereditary metabolic diseases at initial stages to reduce newborn mortality.

Dr Sylvia Karpagam, a public health doctor and researcher, said, "Labs should serve multiple diagnostic needs. Why only hereditary metabolic diseases? There are many preventable causes for newborn mortality. Why is the government not addressing that? Also, the reason for malnutrition is not shortage of breast milk, but issues related to access to a balanced diet, healthcare, livelihood, incomes, etc. The government should have also identified the gaps in public healthcare delivery and invested there."

Dr C N Manjunath, director, Jayadeva Institute of Cardiovascular Sciences and Research, said, "Sub-centres with 50 beds will be set up at KC General Hospital, and with 100 beds at a hospital in Davanagere to reduce the burden at Jayadeva. Our staff will be recruited here which will help many people. However, we had expected a full-fledged Jayadeva Hospital in Hubballi to cater to the population of Dharwad and Belagavi."

EXPRESS ILLUSTRATION

Health for all, but budget misses pandemic control

At the outset, Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa must be congratulated for pulling off a tight budget, given the economic despair created by the Covid-19 pandemic. The state stepped up by spending ₹5,372 crore on managing Covid-19 and testing 1.9 crore people. Continuing with substantial investments in critical care, it is heartening to see these facilities being converted into ICUs at the district level.

The focus on strengthening curative services is justified — the lion's share is devoted to these services — though it is not sufficient to address aspirations for a healthy Karnataka. The government has retained 4% allocation of the total budget for the health sector at ₹11,908 crore, up from its earlier share of ₹10,122 crore. The critical question, however, is how will these funds get spent?

Traditionally, apart from salaries and recurrent costs, most budget funds were spent on curative services. In the past few years, the budget for health insurance is increasing. This is not a bad thing because it is essential to protect people suffering from acute illnesses and save them from impoverishment due to catastrophic medical expenses. However, a progressive state should learn from other failed examples. The United States of America spends 17% of GDP on health, and yet, a significant proportion of people does not have access to primary healthcare services.

It is proposed that primary health centres (PHCs) with more work pressure will be upgraded to model PHCs. The basic problem in urban health is lack of primary healthcare services, and poor and migrant workers suffer the most due to unaffordable private hospitals. Instead of ensuring that primary healthcare is strengthened, I am surprised that another new multi-speciality hospital will be started in North Bengaluru, especially for migrant workers. There should be a moratorium on new buildings till such time that existing ones are used well.

Dr Giridhara R Babu
Professor and head-Lifecourse epidemiology at Indian Institute of Public Health, Bengaluru, Public Health Foundation of India

Despite Covid-19 impacting every walk of life, there is no additional focus on disease surveillance; preventing and controlling future pandemics is only possible from an all-inclusive human, animal and environmental perspective.

The health department's logo, 'Health for everyone, everywhere' seems to reflect in the budget, but 'All focus on health' is missing.

What's in it for us, ask farmers

K SHIVA KUMAR @Mysuru

CHIEF Minister B S Yediyurappa has made his green shawl, symbolic of being farmer-friendly, a permanent feature of his budget presentation. This year too, the CM, who is also the Finance Minister, followed this tradition while presenting the Karnataka Budget in the Assembly on Monday. But farmers say the Budget has brought them little cheer.

Except for a few initiatives like cutting down the APMC tax, renovation of markets, computerisation of Primary Agricultural Credit Cooperative Societies, no concrete programmes have been announced to boost farmers' income. This, when the farmers are on protests demanding a firm commitment from the government to assure MSP, strengthen the APMC market and check the dominance of touts.

The CM announced that gaushalas would be established in all 31 districts to prevent 'slaughter of cows and to protect livestock'.

The setting up of a theme park for demonstration of native livestock in Hesaraghatta of Bengaluru is among other proposals.

While agriculture experts felt that the CM should have focused on what he could do to win over the farming community despite financial constraints, farmer leaders said they were unhappy as the Budget ignored farmers.

According to KRRS state president Badagalapura Narendra, the CM had failed to announce the setting up of a revolving fund to ensure MSP in the event of a crash in prices of produce. He said ₹500 cr for organic farming would only help those promoting it.

Karnataka State Sugarcane Growers' Association president Kurbur Shanthakumar accused the Chief Minister of neglecting the farmers. He said setting aside just ₹5 crore for the purchase of agricutjral equipment was not enough.

Major irrigation projects get ₹21K-crore allocation

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @Belagavi

THE government has allocated ₹21,181 crore to the Water Resources department, expressing its commitment to speedily implement all major irrigation projects. In the previous fiscal, it had set aside ₹21,308 crore for the department. Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa said the government had given administrative approvals for works worth ₹1,677 crore for the Kalasa-Banduri Nala diversion project. However, Yediyurappa did not go into the specifics of how much would be spent.

A proposal to announce the Upper Bhadra project as a 'national project' is at the stage of investment clearance with the Centre, and administrative approval for ₹ 21,474 crore (revised estimate) had been given for the project.

The government will allocate the resources necessary to implement the third phase of the Upper Krishna Project on priority, the CM said.

The Krishna Bhagya Jal Nigam has been sanctioned ₹5,600 crore to undertake irrigation projects.

The first phase of the lift irrigation scheme under the Yettinahole drinking water project is on the verge of completion. To overcome drinking water crisis in some drought-prone areas of North Karnataka, projects to use 22 tmcft water under the Bedthi-Varada river link will be taken up.

A detailed project report is being prepared for construction of a reservoir near Navali, Koppal district, for removal of silt from Tungabhadra dam. A proposal to develop and rejuvenate 58 dams under the World Bank-funded DRIP project will be taken up at an estimated cost of ₹1,500 crore.

BUDGET COULD HAVE LOOKED AT REAL ISSUES

Though the Covid-19 pandemic has crippled socio-economic activities, resulting in drastic decline in state GDP to -2.6%, the agriculture sector has surprisingly marked an outstanding growth of 6.4% during the period. Instead of acknowledging the immense contribution of the toiling masses in this critical period, the government took the risk of introducing far-reaching changes to major farm laws that attracted the wrath of farmers in the state. Instead of pacifying the farmers, and instilling an element of hope in them, it resorted to routine shortcut routes for which the Yediyurappa-led BJP government in the state may have to pay a heavy political cost in the future.

It is a joke to claim 10% reservation, on the pretext of International Women's Day, for women entrepreneurs in APMCs, while virtually dismantling their very structure through the recent amendment. The government's hurry to digitise land records while destroying the very spirit of the Land Reforms Act, on the other hand, is a clear indication of facilitating easy takeover of farm land by the moneyed class. Under the current situation, the budget, as an effective policy formation tool, could have been used to address the real problems faced by farmers shrewdly.

Tur farmers needed a comprehensive production scheme coupled with an empowered Tur Board rather than mere focus on increasing production. Similarly, it would have been appropriate to establish a separate board to look into all aspects of arecanut cultivation rather than picking up mundane issues like control of YLD disease. Instead of making a huge allocation of ₹900 crore to the existing Fasal Bima Yojana, that is severely criticised as being more beneficial to private insurance companies rather than farmers, a separate pro-farmer crop insurance scheme in line with neighbouring states like Andhra Pradesh, would have been ideal.

Dr TN Prakash Kammardi
Agri economist and former chairman, Karnataka Agricultural Prices Commission

With more than 65% of the cultivated being rainfed, 62% of holdings are uneconomical. Karnataka farmers definitely needed a better deal. Farmers' organisations are unequivocal in their claim for legal recourse to ensure that transaction of all farm commodities should be at prices not below the government-declared MSP. The Karnataka Agricultural Prices Commission, in this backdrop, had proposed in 2018 a Statutory Minimum Purchase Price based on either MSP or cost of cultivation for all farm commodities along with penalty and punishment to ensure that no purchase from farmers takes place below SMPP anywhere in the state. A budget allocation of around ₹10,000 cr as Price Stabilisation Fund is needed to undertake timely procurement in this regard. All these are conspicuously absent in the current budget.

It is time to look at the unique features and diverse socio-economic profiles of Karnataka farmers while framing comprehensive policies and programmes. An independent survey undertaken during the lockdown by the author highlights that 65% of farmers have education of higher secondary level and above and almost 30 per cent are in the age group of less than 40 years. Of the 78 farm families surveyed, nearly 30% are from Lingayat community, around 28% from Vokkaliga, Reddy and Bunts, and another 9% are Brahmins. Instead of approaching these social groups as farming classes, the CM felt that appeasing them through their caste identity is the "safe route" and granted liberally to various Boards created for the welfare of these caste groups, that may prove costly politically in the course of time.

Dousing quota fire, CM doles out funds to all sections

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

NEVER before have so many communities protested for reservation in such a short span of time in the state. Kurubas are seeking ST status, Valmikis are aiming for an increase in reservation, Panchamsali-Lingayats are rallying for inclusion in the backward 2-A category, Vokkaligas are demanding reservation and more communities have joined the bandwagon. In a major juggling act, an embattled Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa has allocated funds to pacify different communities.

He has set aside ₹500 crore (initial outlay) and another ₹100 crore (additional outlay) for Veerashaiva-Lingayats and ₹500 crore for Vokkaligas. Though funds for SC/STs in the budget is lesser than last year, this section still has got ₹26,005 crore. The backward and exploited sections, which include 16 different communities, have been allocated ₹ 500 crore mostly for education of youth and self-reliance. The Lingayat Development Board, which was set up four months ago and was allocated ₹500 crore at its inception, has got another ₹500 crore. With substantial allocations to Vokkaligas and Lingayats, the CM has tried to keep both happy.

The Kurubas, seeking inclusion in the ST list and unhappy with not getting their own development corporation, will benefit from the allocations made to backward classes. The government is planning to improve the condition of 150 hostels for backward classes. The Brahmin community has been allocated ₹50 crore, which will go for different student scholarships.

Cheers to all! Liquor, beer spared for now

BALA CHAUHAN @Bengaluru

THE budget has brought some "respite" to the Food & Beverage (F&B) Industry after Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa spared liquor and beer from any further tax hike.

TNIE was the first newspaper to write in February that the government would not increase excise duty on Indian Made liquor (IML) or beer for the ensuing fiscal.

The revenue target for 2021-22 from excise duty on IML and beer has been fixed at Rs 24,580 crore. The State Excise Department has collected ₹20,900 crore till February as against the fixed target of ₹22,700 crore.

Speaking on behalf of the distillers and brewers, Arun Kumar Parasa, president, Karnataka Brewers and Distillers Association, said, "While it's great that the consumers have been spared the hike, the government has once again let the industry down by ignoring our demand of revision of slabs, which was last done five years back. The input costs have gone through the roof in the last five years."

K'TAKA BUDGET: FISHING IN TURBULENT WATERS

R S Deshpande

Former Director, Institute for Social and Economic Change, Bengaluru

Khalil Shaha

Researcher, Institute for Social and Economic Change, Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister B S Yediyurappa presented the 2021-22 budget under an economic scenario that looked quite gloomy with the state having been wracked by the unprecedented pandemic. The revenue receipts have dropped to ₹15.97 lakh crore from ₹17.99 lakh, which was expected in the 2020-21 budget. This has led to a complete failure of fiscal targeting with fiscal deficit at ₹58,300 crore as against the budgeted ₹46,000 crore, missing the target by 26.7%.

The GSDP was expected to go higher than last year's ₹18 lakh crore by ₹2 lakh crore. But it has gone down to ₹17.02 lakh crore. Last year, the tax revenue was expected at ₹1.28 lakh crore, but it has gone down by about ₹11,000 crore. The situation will be partially redressed through an increased GST compensation and a hike in borrowing, stepping out of the FRBM boundary. The cumulative borrowing has come to ₹4,57,899 crore, which is quite high for the economy without any strong efforts on the revenue side.

The expectations of MSME, agriculture, social welfare and urban development sectors were to be fulfilled, without resorting to any increase in taxes. All these have put pressure on other sources of revenue, inflating the deficit. The strategy in this budget is to increase investment to boost growth, create employment, focus on women welfare and provide token interventions across sectors. By doing all these, he has overstepped FRBM discipline on the deficit as well as debt-GSDP ratio.

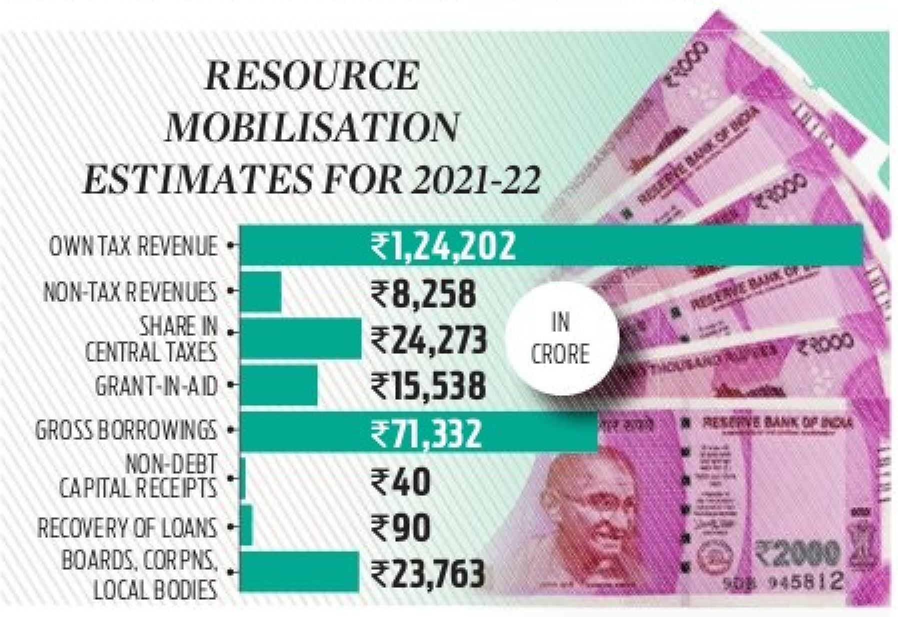
Increasing the revenue should have been the top priority. He has promised to garner total revenues of ₹1,72,271 crore that comes from tax revenue of ₹1,24,201 crore and the non-tax revenue of ₹8,000 crore, with an increment of only a thousand crore. The devolution from the Centre and the grants-in-aid will sum up to ₹39,000 crore, higher than last year.

The budget, being presented on the International Women's Day, opened with welfare schemes for women with ₹37,188 crore allotted to related schemes. The second priority was agriculture and the allocation has reduced to ₹5.72 lakh crore from ₹6.12 lakh crore in 2019-20. The rest of the schemes in agriculture are largely the same. The tinkering is with the reduction of market fees from 1.5% to 0.6%. In the overall analysis, even given the fact that this budget was presented under constraints, it has failed in enhancing revenue efforts and depended more on borrowing, devolution from the central pool and pinching allocations across sectors. The promises are quite a few and tall, but efforts do not reach that height.

A BALANCED BUDGET IN TIMES OF DISTRESS: BSY

CM pins fiscal burden on Covid, refuses to comment on cutting fuel cess

ANUSHA RAVI @Bengaluru



MAKING no secret of Karnataka's worrisome fiscal situation, Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa deemed his budget 'people-friendly' and 'balanced' in the face of adversities.

Speaking to reporters after presenting budget 2021-2022 — the State's first revenue deficit budget — Yediyurappa said that despite a severe shortfall in revenues, all committed expenditures have been ensured.

Even as the CM clubbed departments under umbrella sectors, he denied any reduction in funds for any departments despite Covid and the lockdown that hit production and revenue severely.

"From this point of financial constraints, this is a balanced budget bringing relief in a difficult situation. I have attempted to formulate an all-inclusive budget despite the adverse situation," he said. The CM stressed that taxes have not been increased, but refused to comment whether fuel cess would be reduced.

Conscious of the criticism over skewed regional and caste representation in his Cabinet, he said efforts have been made to maintain a balance in the budget by giving importance to all classes, sectors and districts. While the budget speech indicated a lessened allocation of ₹26,005 crore under the SCs Sub-Plan and Tribal Sub-Plan, he said a revised allocation of ₹26,930 crore on par with last year's allocation has been made.

"Natural calamities and then Covid brought economic activity to a halt. We have seen a recovery in receipts, but the initial losses have been heavy. We have had to make changes to the Karnataka Fiscal Responsibility Act to make up for losses," he said.

Unlike the Centre, the State Government is currently not contemplating disinvestment of state-owned PSUs. With the Centre allowing an additional 1% borrowing, Karnataka is set to amend the Fiscal Responsibility Act for the second consecutive time.

Miffed with the Congress walking out, he said the party is setting a bad precedent. "They should debate the budget in the House. Has there ever been such an instance where a walkout is staged during a budget," he asked.

No relief from economic pain, says JDS leader

ENS @ Bengaluru

WHILE the JDS sat in the assembly as the Congress walked out, there is speculation that it will oppose the budget when it is put to vote either by a walkout or by oral expression of displeasure.

JDS Deputy leader in the House Bandeppa Kashempur did express displeasure. He said, "This budget was presented amid the Covid pandemic where hundreds of lives had been lost and thousands had been affected. People were expecting relief from the economic pain caused by Covid-19. But it has not happened."

"The state has reeled under extremes, be it drought or floods, and the government itself reported that the loss was in the range of Rs 34,000 crore. But who has been compensated? Has the budget addressed that issue? Have the north Karnataka farmers who have suffered back-to-back losses been compensated. The government needs to ask itself these questions," he said.

These ministers had taken oath saying that they would discharge their duties without any fear or favour. When they have gone to court out of fear what moral right do they have to continue in power, including the CM... Shouldn't there be some basis behind the fear?

Cong walks out, says govt carrying bundle of sins

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE@ Bengaluru

THE Congress, led by Siddaramaiah, on Monday staged a walkout during the tabling of the budget for 2021-22 by Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa, claiming that the BJP government in the state had no moral right to continue in power.

"This government carrying a bundle of sins has no moral right to continue in power. So we have decided to protest against the presentation of the budget," Siddaramaiah told reporters.

He alleged the CM, who holds the Finance portfolio, and the Mines and Geology Minister Murugesh Nirani were out on bail in a criminal case relating to alleged creation of bogus documents to take back Karnataka Industrial Area Development Board land at Devanahalli. Siddaramaiah said that six other cabinet ministers approached the civil court seeking injunction against the telecast or publication of any defamatory material against them by the media following the sex-for-job allegation against BJP MLA Ramesh Jarkiholi who had to step down as minister.

He said the government was steeped in corruption and the Congress would not listen to the budget of an "unethical" government, and said the members would protest by wearing black armbands.

Opposition leader in Council S R Patil and legislator R B Thimmapur said, "The outlay on major irrigation is just 8% where so many major projects like the Upper Krishna Stage III are pending. While our PM speaks about doubling farmers' income, they have allotted precious little for agriculture."

TRADE bodies have termed the state budget as balanced. Perikal M Sundar, president, Federation of Karnataka Chambers of Commerce and Industry (FKCCI), said they are happy that the long-pending demand for the introduction of Karasamadhana Scheme is granted, which will bring an end to pre-GST tax disputes and also generate revenue to the government.

The government has encouraged industries by providing support for the establishment of a Textile Park, Plastic Park, Bulk Drug Park and Food Park. Budgetary provision is also made for two mega industrial townships and the Peenya Industrial Township.

"A separate tax slab for industrial properties, loans to women entrepreneurs at 4% discounted interest rates and investment subsidy in ESDM are the steps towards making Karnataka the most favoured destination for industrial investment, " he said.

K B Arasappa, president, Karnataka Small Scale Industries Association (KASSIA), said purchase of land directly by industries from farmers will help in the all-round development of industries in rural areas.

T R Parasuraman, president, Bangalore Chamber of Industry and Commerce, said, "No increase in tax on fuel price despite heavy pressure, will have positive bearing on arresting prices."

Flattering new apartment buyers with stamp duty cut

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

IN apparent relief to home buyers, the State Budget proposes to bring down stamp duty on the first-time registration of apartments valued at ₹35 lakh to ₹45 lakh, from 5% to 3%.

This is being done with an eye on making housing affordable, and a similar move by Maharashtra last year saw a major boost in sales due to limited-period stamp duty cuts. However, Anuj Puri, chairman, ANAROCK Property Consultants, said, "While the move does carry a feel-good factor and will strike the right chord, it is not likely to give a significant boost to housing sales in Bengaluru, on the lines of what we saw in Mumbai."

He explained that this is so because in Maharashtra, stamp duty was reduced for properties across all budget segments, not just one category. "The fact is that housing demand in Bengaluru is largely skewed towards the mid-segment, involving properties priced in the ₹50 lakh to ₹1 crore budget range. For these properties, stamp duty charges remain the same at nearly 5%."

As per research by ANAROCK, at present, Bengaluru has total unsold stock of nearly 59,350 units across all budget segments. Of this, just 24% is within the ₹45 lakh price bracket, while 64% is within the ₹45 lakh to ₹1.5 crore budget range. "In other words, the cut in the ₹35 lakh to ₹45 lakh budget may not have a significant impact," Puri said.

Rajendra Joshi, CEO, Residential Brigade Enterprises Ltd, agreed with Puri, "While stamp duty benefit has been declared for the fiscal year 2021-22, the cycle of planning to execution to registration of properties is significantly longer. "

LITTLE RELIEF FOR STRUGGLING UNITS

Gopinath N C

Industrialist and former secretary, KASSIA

THE State's industries in general, and small industries in particular, are facing several challenges -- apart from the Covid scare -- in the form of a slide in demand, spiralling cost of raw materials, rising cost of energy and transportation, etc. Coupled with this is a lack of proper infrastructure in government as well as private industrial estates.

This sector was looking for relief in the form of reduction in fuel prices, property taxes, higher allocation for efficient energy supply etc. But the Chief Minister has given last priority to industry, clubbing it with other miscellaneous departments.

With the budget on Women's Day, the CM has given more than Rs 31,000 crore worth of incentives, including marketing facility for women entrepreneurs' products from small and micro enterprises.

He has also announced a separate property tax slab for industries in municipal areas, which is welcome. The only positives are three parks -- Plastic and Petroleum Products Park in Mangaluru at Rs 66 crore, Textile Park in Koppal and Food Park in Vijayapura district.

He announced a Global Investors' Meet in the current fiscal, in the hope of attracting large and multinational manufacturing industries into Karnataka. Establishing the Peenya Industrial Township at a cost of Rs 100 crore is fulfilment of a long-standing demand.

Overall, the State Budget has given a major portion of its resources to Agriculture, Social Welfare and caste corporations, while neglecting employment generating manufacturing sector.

A push towards inclusive growth

With the focus on technology and women empowerment, this year's Karnataka Budget is a significant one as the state resurges from the pandemic. Despite the shortage in revenue collection due to economic slowdown and reduction in the devolution of central funds to the state under the GST regime, Karnataka has implemented an innovative strategy to mobilise resources to keep the state on track.

This year's budget, announced on International Women's Day, has envisaged a vigorous economy on the basis of the strength of our women.

The implementation of "Elevate Women Entrepreneurship" programme with an expenditure of Rs 5 crore will support women entrepreneurs. Additionally, the loan facility of up to Rs 2 crore at a subsidised rate of 4 per cent through Woman Development Board/ Karnataka State Finance Corporation is a direct push to enable more women to create startups and aid job creation. Provisions made for technical support to small enterprises run by women will encourage them to join the workforce in larger numbers.

The recently-announced Karnataka State policy for Engineering, Research, and Development (ER&D) will be one of the significant growth catalysts in the coming days. We are confident that the government will continue to work closely with the ER&D industry to take necessary steps to encourage more investments in the state to keep Karnataka in the pole position in this sector.

President, Technology Services, QuEST Global, Chair for ER&D Council, NASSCOM

The provision made to provide vocational training to students -- between 14 and 18 years – of 100 Karnataka Public Schools should be applauded as it helps create an industry-ready workforce for the future.

Apart from this, the comprehensive development plan for Bengaluru will be a booster for the technology sector. The suburban rail project and peripheral ring road will definitely ease the commute within the city. The expansion of Kempegowda International Airport and the focus to improve tourism will attract more people to the state and the city.

As the economy trots back to normal, this budget should pave the way to more inclusive growth and provide an impetus to the overall development of the state.

AFTER the pandemic brought an entire academic year to a near-halt, the government has infused as much as Rs 29,688 crore into the sector. This is a marginal increase of Rs 1,736 crore for the allocation for primary, secondary and higher education sectors, compared to FY 2020-21.

The pandemic shifted school education to the digital platform, and government schools were found wanting in this aspect. Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa said the adoption of technology is a priority with Rs 50 crore allocated towards this in classrooms in 430 government first grade colleges, 87 government polytechnic colleges and 14 government engineering colleges.

The government has decided to extend Technology-Based Learning System in all government high schools. Thus far, laptops and projectors were given to 4,687 high schools; computer labs costing Rs 8 lakh each were established in 2,351 high schools.

As much as Rs 50 crore was allocated for supplying furniture and learning equipment to government schools, and Rs 150 crore for infrastructure facilities in high schools and pre-university colleges.

Giving an impetus to implementation of the National Education Policy towards quality education, skilling of teachers is also a priority. Math and Science teachers will be trained in Indian Institute of Science under the 'Guru Chethana' and 'Odu Karnataka' programmes. An outlay of Rs 5 crore has been earmarked for teachers' training, including teaching English language to all English medium teachers.

To give vocational training to students of 100 Karnataka Public Schools, the department of skill development is being roped in.

Implementation of Educational Leadership Programme in collaboration with world-class universities will surely go a long way in mentoring the next generation of leaders

Dr Lakshman Kumar, Director, ISBR Business School, Bengaluru

The government missed out on the prospect of creating an online education system, which we believe is very critical considering the current scenario. PPP model in upgrading ITIs at a cost of ₹4,636 crore will also play an important role in generating jobs in rural areas

Nealesh Dalal, Managing Trustee, JD Educational Trust

The budget was not convincing, our demand for Rs 1,000 crore interest-free loans for budget schools was not announced, free vaccination was not addressed, and pandemic support was wanting

As funds flow, river tourism gets fillip

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

WATERWAYS will be developed along scenic rivers and other spots to boost tourism in Karnataka, Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa said on Monday during his budget speech.

A proposal has been submitted to the Centre to develop waterways on the Kali, Nethravathi, and Gurupur rivers, between Hangarkatte to Manipal in Udupi district, Almatti dam to Bagalkot town.

They will be developed with the assistance of the Central Waterways Authority at a cost of Rs 60 crore.

The government also plans to develop waterways between Mangaluru and Panaji through public private partnership (PPP) to promote tourism.

Emphasis will be given to water sports as tourist attractions, and the state government is working on preparing detailed project reports.

An allocation of Rs 500 has been made for tourism with an eye on providing employment opportunities to locals, revive the economy and boost infrastructure.

The CM's announcement on the creation of an integrated theme park downstream of the Kabini reservoir under PPP has tourism officials and experts worried as it will hamper conservation efforts.

The chief minister also announced the creation and development of weekend getaways near Bengaluru.

Emphasising the importance of restoring and preserving heritage sites, Yediyurappa announced that Rs 2 crore of a total of Rs 5 crore will be sanctioned in 2021-22 to develop the Neolithic ash mounds at Kudutini in Ballari district.

Tourist spots such as Nandi Giridhama in Chikkaballapur district and Kemmanagundi in Chikkamagalur district will be taken over and managed by Karnataka State Tourism Development Corporation and Jungle Lodges and Resorts.

The government has also proposed to develop beaches in Thrasi, Maravanthe, Ottinene, Someshwara, and elsewhere in Udupi district at cost of Rs 10 crore each for the purpose of attracting tourists.

The state budget proposes to develop an eco-tourism park in Tadadi, Udupi district, through public private partnership over a an area of 1,000 acres.

Experts and tourism officials are worried that the construction of a theme park downstream of the Kabini reservoir (in pic) will hamper conservation efforts | EXPRESS

State, AAI to form joint venture, develop helipads

Bengaluru: The state government and Airport Authority of India (AAI) will form a joint venture company, for government-owned airports, said Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa on Monday. He added that this will enable speedy construction and development of airports, helipads, and water aerodromes. This announcement was made in line with a statement by the AAI in October 2020 where it planned to develop at least 100 airports, water aerodromes and helipads across Bengaluru by 2024 under the UDAN scheme. Yediyurappa also stated that both Shivamogga and Vijayapura airports will be operationalised soon. They have commenced the work during the 2020-21 financial year at a cost of ₹384 crore and ₹220 crore respectively. Kalaburagi and Bidar airports have already begun operations. The government has priorities providing connectivity to districts.

Veerappan turf will now host wildlife safari

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

THE State Government has given its nod to set up a wildlife safari in Gopinatham, Chamarajanagar district, in honour of P Srinivas and others who were killed by forest brigand Veerappan. "The safari will be created along the Cauvery in MM Hills. It will honour forest officials, including martyr Srinivas, who was killed by Veerapan in Yerekyam, 7 km from Gopinatham. The area is a part of the Veerappan trail ... but the name has been changed," a forest official said.

Also, ₹50 lakh has been granted for the Bird Species Conservation Programme to save the endangered Lesser Florican. "They are found in Chitradurga, Bidar and Ballari. It has been decided to scan and identify places where they are found. The CM also revived former CM H D Kumaraswamy's plan to create a new policy enabling the government to buy land to secure the elephant corridor to ensure free movement of animals," the official said.

The budget encourages afforestation, but with an emotional twist: Under the Smruthi Vanagala Nirmana scheme citizens can plant saplings on specified government land in memory of their loves ones. The CM also announced Aranya e-Parihara Yojane, for speedy payment of cash for damage caused by animals.

The government made a special mention about creating detailed maps of all forest types and their density in Karnataka with a 50cm satellite resolution.

Safe and secure: Push for policing, forensics, coastal surveillance

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

FORENSIC laboratories will come up in Hubballi and Ballari, ₹2 crore will be allocated to enhance safety and security in coastal areas and ₹10 crore will be allocated to increase the capacity of eight prisons. These are some of the allocations to the home department in the State Budget announced on Monday.

Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa allocated Rs 25 crore this year, for the construction of police stations that function without their own building. Over the next five years, 100 such stations would be built at an estimated cost of ₹200 crore. Keeping police welfare in mind, the CM said that 10,032 residential houses will be constructed under the 'Police Gruha-2025' scheme, which has been taken up at a cost of ₹2,740 crore and includes the Karnataka State Fire and Emergency Services Department and Prison Department.

He added that ₹2 crore will be for strengthening the coastal surveillance force through technology in a phased manner.

As far as the Prisons & Correctional Services Department is concerned, he said that the capacity in eight prisons will be increased at an estimated cost of ₹40 crore and ₹10 crore will be provided this year. Besides, video-conferencing facility will be provided at a cost of ₹15 crore to produce prisoners before courts from prisons.

There is no mention of the full-fledged implementation of the Raghavendra Auradkar Committee report. The Chief Minister seems to have no concern for the welfare of retired policemen and their families. More allocations should be made to the home department every year but the CM has mentioned projects planned for the next five years which is very impracticable

Cracks form in CPM over selection of candidates

Supporters protest against strong seats being given to KC(M)

ANIL S @ T'Puram

AS the CPM enters campaign mode harbouring hopes of a second term in office, anger brews within the party over candidate selection and seat-sharing. On the day the CPM secretariat finalised candidates, the state witnessed open protests in Ponnani and in Kuttyadi in addition to strong resentment within a section over exclusion of leaders with proven mass appeal.

On the one hand, there have been protests and poster campaigns in Alappuzha against the exclusion of G Sudhakaran and Thomas Isaac. On the other hand, allotting strong seats like Ranni and Kuttyadi to KC(M) Jose K Mani faction has not gone down well with the cadre. In some places, workers are unhappy with 'parachuting' candidates without mass appeal.

Curiously, the protests in Ponnani are not for Speaker P Sreeramakrishnan. Workers feel the party has named P Nandakumar without taking them into confidence as they want district leader T M Siddique to contest.

Similarly the ground level workers favour K P Kunjammad Kutty as CPM candidate in Kuttyadi while the party gave the seat to KC(M). The candidate selection in seats like Kottarakkara too has raised some eyebrows. If resentment in the district leadership resulted in replacing A K Balan's wife P K Jameela in Tarur, the protests in Alappuzha for fielding Sudhakaran and Isaac have not made any impact.

Political observers consider the party's so-called reformist approach suicidal, especially when it is eyeing a second term. Some feel the whole narrative could be a conspiracy to keep people like Isaac away. Even as the CPM tries to project the two-term norm, the party finds it difficult to explain the exclusion of Kannur strongman P Jayarajan.

The CPM leadership decided to go strictly by the two-term norm taking a cue from West Bengal, where the party was washed out after decades-long rule. Taking the same parameter in a crucial poll would not be advisable at this juncture, many feel.

"Exemptions have become a norm of late and hence it's good that the party decided to strictly enforce two terms. At the same time, not giving exemptions to some dissenting voices like P Jayarajan and Isaac appears to be a deliberate move to silence dissent," observed Left commentator N M Pearson.

Wwriter N S Madhavan came out against the CPM decision. In an obvious reference to the norm but without mentioning the CPM, Madhavan tweeted that political parties maintain unbelievable ignorance about the state and elections. "Election has just one target --- winning. It should not be a leadership development programme or lottery for freshers," he tweeted.

EC drops Sreedharan as 'state icon'

In the wake of BJP announcing E Sreedharan's candidature in the assembly polls, the Election Commission has dropped the octogenarian technocrat from his 'state icon' title. Chief Electoral Officer Teeka Ram Meena has directed the poll panel to remove the metroman's picture from all election-related awareness materials. Cricketer Sanju Samson will replace him as the 'state icon'. Sreedharan and playback singer K S Chitra were declared as icons ahead of the 2019 Lok Sabha polls.

12 injured in communal riots at Bhainsa

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Adilabad

EERIE silence prevailed in communally sensitive Bhainsa on Monday as prohibitory orders under Section 144 of the CrPC were imposed after two groups clashed over a trivial issue which led to large-scale arson, and violence on Sunday night. The incidents also led to one visual media reporter suffering stab wounds while about a dozen people sustained injuries. The visual media reporter, after his condition deteriorated, was rushed to Yashoda Hospital in Hyderabad where his condition is reported to be critical.

After the late night's mayhem, the streets wore the look of a bombed out town. The soot-covered walls of buildings and the tangled remains of vehicles which were set on fire remained in silent testimony to the mob frenzy. The arson and violence were triggered by an argument over a trivial issue of a member of one group riding a bike without silencer at about 9 pm in Zulfikar Colony to which the residents in the area took objection.

This led to a full-blown clash with more people joining in support of the biker in Zulfikar Colony. A free-for-all ensued with both the groups throwing stones at one another and attacking with knives. The trouble soon spread to other sensitive areas of Korba Gulley and Ganesh Gulley. The arsonists set fire to 13 vegetable shops, one two-wheeler, one car and one auto rickshaw.

In-charge SP Vishnu S Warrier and Ramagundam commissioner V Satyanarayana are monitoring the situation which is now under control. They are using drones to keep a close watch on the movement of unsocial elements in the town.

According to Warrier, the police have arrested 10 persons for the clashes and more people are being identified with the help of CCTV camera footage. About 600 policemen are deployed to prevent trouble from breaking out once again.

Aeorspace policy will help K'taka retain edge

THE space sector will be one of the focus areas of the new policy, especially after the Central Government took the initiative to encourage private participation.

That apart, the policy will also look at challenges faced by the defence and aerospace sectors as the 2013 policy was formulated with taxation-based incentives in mind, which needs a re-look.

"The aerospace policy was announced eight years ago and the context has changed now. We will hold consultations with the industry before finalising the new policy," Gunjan Krishna, Commissioner, Industries and Commerce Department, said. Karnataka is competing at a global level and the new initiative will help retain that edge, she added.

Industry veteran and former Managing Director of HAL, Ashok Saxena, said the 2013 policy was comprehensive and the government can add some more points to it.

"Let us focus on bringing the anchor industries in the aerospace park. I was requesting the CM to invite big companies. I suggest they make the new policy more elaborate on the space side as that was not that prominent at the time of our 2013 policy," he said. India has now emerged as a major space power and the Government of India has taken many initiatives to add private players, and the state must take that into consideration, he added.

Jarkiholi to meet media today

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

FORMER Water Resources Minister Ramesh Jarkiholi is expected to address the media at 10.30am Tuesday, at his residence. He had become incommunicado for a week, after a controversial video was aired on news channels last week.

Jarkiholi was forced to resign from the cabinet after the CD went public. It is uncertain what the former minister will speak about to the media on Tuesday.

While Jarkiholi has maintained that he is innocent, activist Dinesh Kallahalli filed a complaint with the police alleging that the former minister had sexually assaulted a job seeker. But in a surprising turnaround, he withdrew his complaint on Friday, soon after Balachandra Jarkiholi, brother of Ramesh Jarkiholi, claimed before the media that the video was doctored.

During a midnight walkathon hosted by Rainbow Children's Hospital, Jayanagar MLA Sowmya Reddy said, "I always choose to challenge the status quo and this is the reason why I am the only woman MLA of Bengaluru." IGP Roopa Moudgil, managing director, Karnataka Handicrafts Development Corporation, spoke about challenging stereotypes about women.

Sarjapur residents organised Women Achievers Sarjapura and honoured 108 women working as police personnel, bus conductors, domestic workers, petrol bunk staff, teachers and medical professionals.

Pink booths for Covid vaccination that will have only women staff were launched at Sir C V Raman General Hospital and selected health facilities across districts. Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar inaugurated the booth at C V Raman General Hospital.

NABARD felicitated 40 women entrepreneurs, FPOs, artisans, self-help groups and others from Chikkamagluru, Dakshina Kannada, and other districts.

Festivies galore at Bengaluru railway station

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

COLOURFUL rangolis on Platform 8 at Krantivira Sangolli Rayanna and the Basava Express that chugged into station from Bagalkot with the banner, 'Empowering women in Indian Railways' made it clear that the day was special.

Marking International Women's Day, the Bengaluru Railway Division ran the Basava Express from KSR to Mysuru with a 20-strong women staff comprising a loco pilot, an assistant loco pilot, seven travelling ticket examiners, Railway Protection Force and other staff.

Passengers were offered roses before the train chugged off at 11.11 am. The green flag was also waved by top women railway officials. Loud cheers and claps from passengers in the train and on the platform made it a festive atmosphere. The stars of the day – LP Sireesha Gajini, ALP Mini Mubaraka and guard Richa Mini Tripathi -- were mobbed for selfies by the public. Gajini who has been steering trains for eight years, said, "I feel proud with the response I got today. It is the first time I am given this responsibility and I feel grateful." LP Ria Nag, ALP Gayathri Krishnan and guard Neha Sharma operated the other all-woman train from Channasandra to Jolarpettai.

Women activists give thumbs-up to state budget

FOR the concessional bus passes for garment factory workers, Rs 30 crore has been allocated. "Also, 7,500 CCTV cameras will be installed in Bengaluru. Tech-based e-beat will be implemented during the night to ensure women's safety," the CM said.

Anganwadis in all the metropolitan regions, including Bengaluru, will be upgraded to creches in a phased manner for the benefit of urban working women and all government offices, even in villages, will have one child care centre.

For women and child development, Rs 4,531 crore has been allocated, as against Rs 4,650 crore in the last budget. Agreeing that the budget seems proactive and woman/child friendly, women activists and public health experts said, "It would be great if it doesn't just remain on paper, but is implemented and monitored/ evaluated by community representatives.It should be inclusive of vulnerable communities like Dalit, Adivasis, Devadasis, transwomen, single women, etc., as they often get left out," pointed out Dr Sylvia Karpagam, public health doctor and researcher.

Expressing unhappiness that the government failed to announce a separate package to identify families that have become extremely vulnerable due to the pandemic, Dr Sylvia added that "funds should have been set aside to identify these families and help bring them out of the crisis. This includes nutrition, education, livelihood, housing and health care."

AMID POLL SEASON, TN MUST GUARD AGAINST SECOND COVID WAVE

One year after Tamil Nadu reported its first case of Covid-19, the state is once again on the alert. After a rocky beginning to the management of the virus, when testing remained too limited and delayed action resulted in the formation of large clusters, TN achieved a degree of success in containing the spread of the infection. Thanks to the tireless work of healthcare and sanitation workers and a commitment to high levels of RT-PCR testing, the peak caseload of the summer of 2020 subsided by the end of the year, while the case fatality rate also remained low.

However, in the past month, there has been a gradual increase in the number of fresh cases being reported, especially from Chennai, and the state is once again recording over 500 new cases each day. This rise comes just as political parties begin to engage in a month of hectic campaigning ahead of the Assembly polls even as complacency sets in amongst members of the public. This could be a dangerous cocktail.

While the state Health Department has remained vigilant even as cases dipped, it cannot be denied that the most stringent measures of surveillance and containment, including door-to-door checks, have been long relaxed. Health officials have now rightly instructed districts and local bodies to increase surveillance to prevent the emergence of a second wave. Attributing the rise in cases to family and workplace clusters, officials have ordered stricter adherence to quarantine norms and standard operating procedures. At this time, it is also important that political parties remain cautious and embrace responsible practices. They too must ensure pandemic norms are complied with at campaign events and meetings and must remind the public that the dangers of Covid remain real. The health officials must intensify communications campaigns to reiterate the importance of social distancing, mask-wearing and washing hands.

Thanks to the wonders of science, people around the world have been able to access high-quality, safe vaccines against a disease that was unknown 18 months ago. At this stage, the state, politicians and people must not let up the guard, lest we lose more lives—and livelihoods—to this virus. Not when the end may well be in sight.

FIGHTING FOREST FIRE IN ODISHA

What happens in Similipal apparently stays in Similipal. That's what occurred when a forest fire raged in the Odisha tiger reserve last month. For over a week, the flames did not catch attention as very little information made its way out of one of the first reserves to come up when Indira Gandhi rolled out the ambitious Project Tiger in 1973. Then a social media post caught the attention of Union Minister Dharmendra Pradhan, who sent in an SOS to his counterpart in MoEFCC, Prakash Javadekar. And then like wildfire, Similipal was all over the news. In the span of a week between February 24 and March 2, nearly 380 fire points were reported.

Fire in the tiger land is not new. Every year, seasonal fires are recorded and dealt with. But 2021 has been a different year. A dry run-up and early arrival of summer added fuel to the fire. Spread over 2,745 sq km, Similipal is like a mini-district and the deciduous nature of forests makes firefighting difficult. The ravaging fire caught the Similipal management off guard. Though Odisha's Forest Department offered explanations about no loss to humans and animals, the sheer impact on the green cover and its consequences cannot be overlooked. Much of the reasons behind the fire are human interference. From Mahul flower collection to poaching as well as bushmeat hunting, they are—and have always been—the main triggers. Only better conservation measures can minimise the detrimental impact of such activities but sadly, there has been little focus on Similipal while transparency has gone for a toss. The fact that community outreach of the forest administration is at its lowest ebb has not helped either.

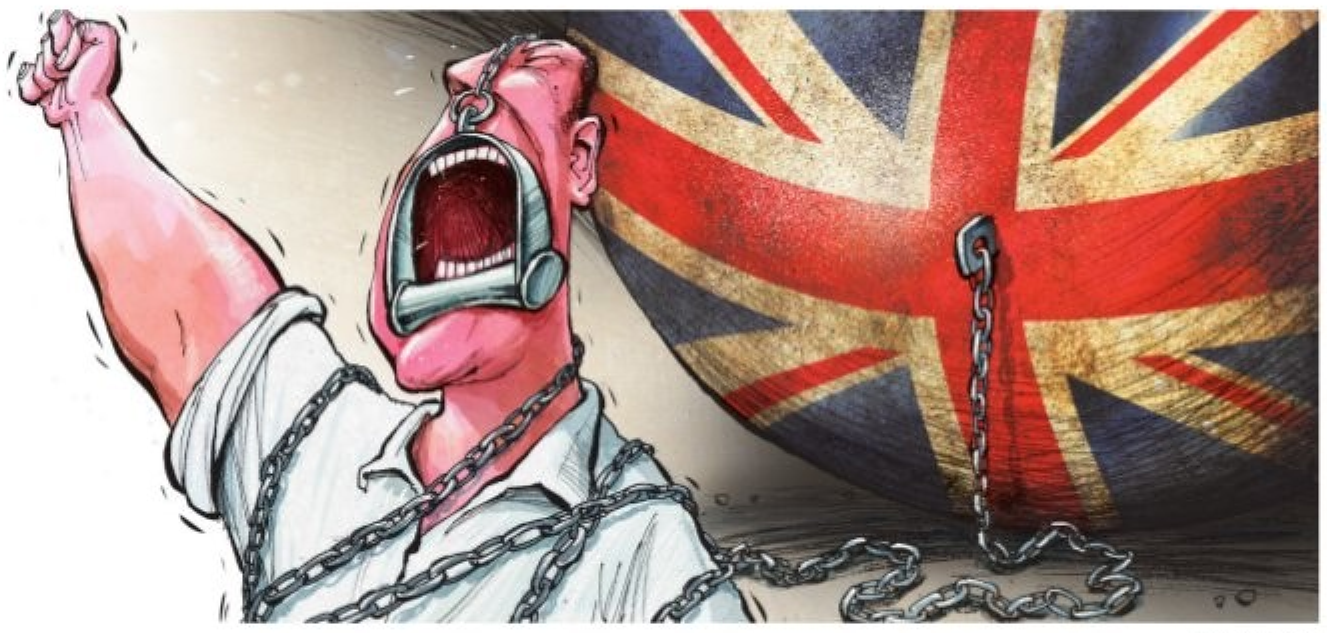
As a firefighting measure, the state government has now formed a task force, which is welcome. But compartmentalising causes behind the fire will not help. The administration must not lose sight of climate change as a big factor. Augmentation in protection strategy as well as a greater role for stakeholder communities must be encouraged. Currently, the only sustainable tiger-bearing area in Odisha, Similipal occupies a key place in the state's biodiversity landscape. It must be protected at any cost.

When it is foisted on persons disagreeing with the government, the seriousness of the provision is eroded in due course

GOVT SHOULD NOT TRIVIALISE SEDITION LAW

K JAYAKUMAR

Former Kerala chief secretary & ex-VC, Thunchath Ezhuthachan Malayalam Varsity



SOUMYADIP SINHA

Section 124A of the Indian Penal Code that deals with sedition is by now quite familiar. The new interest in academic circles and the media about the law on sedition was triggered by an abnormal spurt in the cases registered under this section. Have Indians suddenly become more seditious? What really accounts for this sudden surge of ‘seditious intent’? The arrest of the young climate change activist Disha Ravi and the bail granted by the Delhi court with valuable observations have brought to the centre stage the discourse on sedition.

The offence of sedition is quite grave. It has to be invoked and investigated with the same gravity. Comedians, media persons, poets, intellectuals, academics and even leaders of political parties are all being booked under Section 124A, with the light-heartedness of a petty case, it appears. This provision entered the Indian Penal Code in 1870 after some initial reservations even for the British. For the colonial rulers, such a provision was inevitable to intimidate and contain dissent. A meticulous reading of the words and tone of Section 124A will decipher colonial fears and context. “Whosoever by words, either spoken or written, or by signs, or by visible representation or otherwise, brings or attempts to bring into hatred or contempt, or excites or attempts to excite disaffection towards the Government established by law in India shall be punished with imprisonment for life, to which fine may be added, or with imprisonment which may extend to three years, to which fine may be added or with fine.”

Though the law had been drafted as early as in 1837, it was not included when the IPC was enacted in 1860. It took another 10 years for the sedition law to be included in the IPC. They were the years following the First War of Independence of 1857. The uprising, which was the first serious and organised challenge to British hegemony at a national level, was quelled and the last Mughal emperor was deposed. The East India Company withdrew and the British Crown became the ruler of India. When the Government of Britain established its administration here, any challenge to that authority had to be dealt with an iron fist. They needed a strong provision that conveyed to the Indian subjects that any act of disloyalty would invite non-bailable arrest and imprisonment for life. The word ‘disaffection’ in the section on sedition is the perverse expression of the awareness that there was hardly any ‘affection’ for British rule. Therefore the British government had to view any attempt to create ‘hatred’ or contempt’ as sedition. Such a draconian law can exist only when there are no fundamental rights guaranteed by a Constitution. When the Indian Constitution with its fundamental rights of freedom of speech and expression came into operation, this law became anachronistic. In a multi-party democracy, a political party or a coalition that is mandated to form the government for five years cannot expect that all the citizens support them. ‘Disaffection’ by several sections is natural in a democracy. The party that rules often gets less than 50% of the votes, but electoral arithmetic makes it possible to ‘lawfully’ form the government. Dissent against the ruling party and ‘disaffection’ as contemplated in the provision on sedition are two different things. Mahatma Gandhi, who was tried for sedition in 1922 for his articles in ‘Young India’, told the court that this section is a “prince among the political sections of the Indian Penal Code designed to suppress the liberty of the citizen”. Exactly a century later with the British rule gone nearly 75 years ago, we seem to be doing exactly what the Mahatma told the British Court: ‘suppress the liberty of the citizen.’ In fact, the freedom struggle was meant to redeem the ‘liberty of the citizen’.

The term in the section ‘government established by law’ originally referred to the British government in India. It is not identical with the democratically elected government in free India. The possibility of trivial use of this section could easily be prevented if the expression—‘disaffection towards the Government established by law’—is replaced by the term ‘the state’. Government and the state are two entities in a democracy, while they are identical in a colonial rule of an alien power. Any overdose of the section on sedition can have major unfortunate consequences for our polity. When it is clamped on persons disagreeing with the government, by extrapolation of hair-thin facts and far-fetched inferences that do not stand legal scrutiny, the seriousness of this provision is eroded in due course. When such instances are on the rise, the message that the government does not brook any criticism or dissent becomes the unproclaimed decree of the day. It would make acquiescence the accepted norm, dissent a sin and democracy a shell.

While the present government has used this section more flagrantly than its predecessors, no government can possibly plead innocence for having kept this section in the law book, despite the fact that in independent India, Section 124A has been struck down by the courts only to be reintroduced by successive governments. Even the powerless Indian knows that our democracy has enormous inner strength and resilience to tolerate criticism and accommodate differing voices, but it seems power makes the powerful weak and fearful.

B'DESH AND THE QUESTION INDIA SHOULD ASK ITSELF

N SATHIYA MOORTHY

Distinguished Fellow & Head-Chennai Initiative, Observer Research Foundation

In Dhaka recently, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar said that Prime Minister Narendra Modi's Bangladesh visit later this month “will be memorable”. “Our relationship is so broad and our comfort level so high that there is no domain today that is left untouched,” he said after preparatory talks with counterpart, A K Abdul Momen. “It is a truly a 360-degree partnership,” Jaishankar tweeted and also underscored the significance of connectivity between the people of two countries.

“The significance of India's ties with Bangladesh lies in its centrality for India's ‘Neighbourhood First’ policy and Dhaka's growing relevance for India's ‘Act East’ Policy,” Jaishankar said. Reciprocating the sentiments, Minister Momen said the two countries have committed to continue to work together to take “our bilateral relations to newer heights under the leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina”.

Therein lies the crux of the bilateral relations and hidden issues therein. After a break when bete noire Begum Khaleda Zia was prime minister, Sheikh Hasina has been in office through three rounds of parliamentary polls since January 2009 and has helmed Bangladesh's economic recovery; it is now among the fastest growing nations in South Asia and the world. She has also successfully managed her government's ties with China through the BRI and the US through Indo-Pacific.

Untested waters: Bilateral relations between the two countries improved vastly under the previous Manmohan Singh government. Ties have stabilised and moved further forward under Modi.

The change of government in Delhi did not really impact bilateral relations, and rather further strengthened and expanded the same. Dhaka's hurt over the CAA issue and anti-CAA protests in India too have mostly been forgotten. Bangladesh has been the single largest beneficiary of India's ‘Vaccine Diplomacy’.

The same cannot be said about Bangladesh, particularly after the continuing years of political stability, economic growth and focused foreign policy. While Hasina is still relatively young at 73, the inevitability of anti-incumbency, which is an attendant curse of democracy, cannot be overlooked, later if not sooner.

Like every other leader, Hasina has also been careful not to allow political aspirations from within her ruling Awami League to blossom beyond a point. She has decimated the political opposition, identified with one-time rival Khaleda's Bangladesh Nationalist Party (BNP) on the one hand, and the latter's fundamentalist/extremist ally, Jamaat-e-Islami, on the other.

Through the delayed employment of ‘transitional justice’ for the mindless massacre of fellow citizens during the nation's ‘Independence War’ in 1971, Hasina has ensured the near decimation of the Jamaat. Through more civil and criminal proceedings, Khaleda's political voice and electoral chances have been put down, almost for good. If there is a hidden third face, even its shadows are not visible.

After Hasina, who?: Today, Bangladeshis should be asking this question. New Delhi should be asking the question even more—to itself. However, India seems to be satisfied with what is in sight, and also seems to wait for things to happen as and when they do in Bangladesh—something like the recent military coup in Myanmar.

Because of comparative sizes—of the nations, populations and economies, among others—India is in the unenviable position of all the time second-guessing every neighbour, especially in terms of its domestic politics. Eternal optimism, especially in terms of bilateral relations, is what Modi's ‘Neighbourhood Policy’ is based upon. From Nehru's days, it has been an Indian concept. It is not always shared by individual neighbours, especially so through changing regimes.

Foreign policy today covers trade and security policies, too. They are often influenced by domestic politics and electoral commitments. India is an exception. Though Modi's BJP-RSS parivar has been repeatedly taunting the Nehru-Gandhi legacy of the nation's security policy, the more they promise to change it, the more it has remained the same. They have tweaked only those aspects that are germane to their domestic politics, not otherwise.

This is not the case with India's neighbours. For instance, Bangladesh's relations with India became a victim of the Hasina-Khaleda war of attrition-cum-succession. The unsure nature of the nation's democracy after the assassination of ‘Bangabandhu’ Mujibur Rahman, Hasina's father, unsettled ties with India earlier.

Today, the nation, once again, may be inching towards a precipice, millimetre by millimetre, in the absence of a predictable line of succession and an even more strong opposition, for the future to take care of itself. New Delhi should begin crystal-gazing, if it is not doing it already, if it is not to be left groping in what at present is the darkness of domestic politics in Bangladesh.

Given India's continued ‘comfort level’ with the 30 long years of Maumoon Gayoom's leadership, New Delhi needed time to readjust to the new realities in Maldives (also in the neighbourhood), when new-generation voters in that country decided to go in for ‘democratic transition’ when given the chance in 2008. In the fast-tracked global/regional scenario, India may not now have as much time in the case of Bangladesh, if and when it came to that.

CPM decision laudable

The decision of the CPM to not give tickets in the forthcoming Assembly elections to legislators who were elected twice consecutively is remarkable. This will help second- and third-line leaders who were working behind the scenes for a long period. Only communist parties can lay down these procedures as they are cadre-based.

Jayakumar A V, Kochi

Blinded by politics

The Kerala CM, who quoted Bertolt Brecht while opening the newly built flyover in Kochi to traffic, failed to acknowledge the expertise of ‘Metroman’ E Sreedharan, who joined the BJP recently. The CM appears to have been blinded by politics.

Dr George Jacob, Kochi

Not a Naxalite earlier?

TMC MP Saugata Roy has said that actor Mithun Chakraborty, who has now joined the BJP, was originally a Naxalite and has changed parties four times. Why did the Trinamool take the actor into its fold earlier? Does Roy mean to say that the Naxal background is dangerous only after he changed loyalties?

Waiting for change

The PM assured people of Bengal that if his party is voted to power, the state shall undergo real change (Modi, Didi snipe at each other to deflect charges, Mar 8). However the people of BJP-run states are desperately waiting for this real change for the past several years.

Deepak Singhal, Noida

Mother of all state polls

By many indications, the West Bengal election has earned all the trappings and attributes to be called the mother of all Assembly polls. The result of the do-or-die battle between the BJP and Trinamool will help set the future political agenda of not only the state but the entire country.

The article Why women-led development is India's future (Mar 8) is a good piece on International Women's Day. The author has touched upon a good number of issues related to women and their role in nation building. All they want is dignity, respect and non-discrimination.

Peace with Pak a mirage

A permanent ceasefire with Pakistan is only a mirage (Fleshing out the Loc ceasefire, Mar 8). Only the persistence of external factors such as Biden's approach to Pakistan, the situation in Afghanistan and the need for Islamabad to improve its global image for survival can help in the longevity of the ceasefire.

Narco traffic on high seas

The interception of narco traffic on the high seas off Lakshadweep by the Coast Guard is indicative of the vigil of India in drug trafficking in which Pakistan too is involved (3 Lankan ferrying drugs intercepted, Mar 8). Constant vigilance is needed.

EC direction welcome

It is good that the EC has directed the health ministry to remove PM Narendra Modi's photo from the vaccine certificate in states going to the polls. This is the right time to remove the photo from the certificate in all states. If at all required, the images of corona warriors and scientists can be incorporated.

Fire in Odisha natl park

Odisha's Similipal National Park is on fire. But not many have even realised this. The state government claims there is no loss of life. Does this mean the lives of trees are not a matter of concern or is it because they do not vote?

A day after PM's Kolkata visit, TMC faces fresh spate of defections

Sarala Murmu joined BJP days after Trinamool fielded her from Habibpur constituency

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

BARELY 72 hours after the Trinamool Congress announced the full list of candidates fielded in the upcoming Assembly elections, one of the contestants, in a bizarre move, joined the BJP on Monday along with the ruling party's four other incumbent MLAs, who were denied tickets. The defection took place at the party's Hastings election office in south Kolkata.

Sarala Murmu was in the list announced by TMC supremo on Friday last week and was selected for the Habibpur Assembly constituency, reserved for a scheduled tribe candidate, in north Bengal's Malda district. Sensing her defeat, Sarala decided to jump ship and join the BJP, sources in the TMC said.

"Most of the TMC functionaries in the constituency where I was fielded have already joined the BJP. In the TMC, I was given a post but no work to do," said Sarala.

Noticing Sarala's suspicious move on Sunday night, the TMC issued a statement announcing Pradip Baskey as the party's new candidate and cited her health condition as the reason.

"We anticipated Sarala's move because she did not want to contest from Habibpur as she thought BJP's victory is sure there. She wanted to contest from another seat which is Old Malda but the party refused," said a TMC leader.

Among others, four time MLA from Satgachia and once Mamata's trusted colleague Sonali Guha, Singur's octogenarian legislator Rabindranath Bhattacharya, Shibpur MLA Jatu Lahiri and footballer-turned lawmaker from Basirhat (Dakshin) Dipendu Biswas also joined the saffron camp. A number of ruling party's functionaries from Malda zilla parishad and South Dum Dum municipality, too, shifted sides and came under the umbrella of the BJP.

Bengali actress Tanushree Chakraborty also joined the BJP on Monday.

Bhattacharya and Lahiri were denied tickets as the party decided not to field octogenarian candidates in the upcoming poll and both of them come under the bracket of the age restriction.

This election, it's me vs BJP, says CM Mamata

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

UNLEASHING a blistering attack on Prime Minister, West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee on Monday hinted that the Assembly elections is going to be a battle between her and Narendra Modi.

"He came to Kolkata and spread lies and canards. I appeal to the people of Bengal to consider me as candidate in all 294 Assembly constituencies. Vote for my candidates and secure their victory,'' said Mamata while addressing a rally after leading a march on International Women's Day.

Asserting that her party will retain power for the third consecutive time, the TMC supremo said, "The fight is me and the BJP in all 294 seats.''

Taking a dig at PM over inclusion of his picture in Covid vaccination certificate, Mamata said the day was not far when the country will be named after him.

In an attempt to woo women electorates' support, Mamata walked the stretch with some of the women candidates of her party beside her. ''One day, Bengal's daughters will lead the state. I appeal to the women electorates of Bengal to vote for our women candidates,'' Mamata said.

BJP axe set to fall on U'khand CM Rawat?

Why he's a liability

While the trend is to vote out the incumbent govt, the BJP is keen to reverse it. The CM's over-centralisation and lack of access to MLAs may play the spoiler, party leaders feel. Rawat is also accused of not addressing the concerns of people hit by infra projects, including roads and highways

TAKING a grim view of the poll prospects in Uttarakhand next year, the BJP is exploring leadership change in the hill state, while incumbent Chief Minister Trivendra Singh Rawat is camped in Delhi trying to somehow avert his ouster. The BJP is likely to name Rawat's successor after calling a meeting of all legislators in Dehradun.

Union Home minister Amit Shah is learnt to be acting on a report given by party vice president Raman Singh who was sent to Dehradun on Saturday as a Central observer along with party leader Dushyant Kumar Gautam. BJP chief J P Nadda has also reportedly briefed Shah about the Uttarakhand situation. Later, Rawat met Nadda.

The CM also called on the BJP media head and Rajya Sabha MP Anil Baluni at his residence on Monday evening. Baluni, who is known to enjoy the trust of PM Narendra Modi and Shah, is also reckoned as a contender for the CM's position. Union Education minister Ramesh Pokhriyal "Nishank" is seen as a frontrunner to replace Rawat.

Mutant Covid-19 viruses converging to become 'super variant': study

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @ New Delhi

DIFFERENT and worrying SARS-CoV-2 variants of concern, such as the UK and South African ones, appear to be converging through mutations towards a "super variant" that would confer biological advantages to the virus and make fighting the Covid-19 pandemic difficult, a new study has suggested.

This is first ever study detecting signals of a convergence, which suggests that through mutations, the UK variant is becoming more like the South African variant and vice-versa.

The scientists from the US, UK, Sweden and South Africa have shown that the emergence and rapid rise in prevalence of three independent SARS-CoV-2 "501Y lineages'', B.1.1.7, B.1.351 and P.1, in the last three months of 2020 has prompted renewed concerns about the evolutionarily capacity of SARS-CoV-2 to adapt to both rising population immunity, and public health interventions such as vaccines and social distancing.

Viruses giving rise to the different 501Y lineages have, presumably under intense natural selection following a shift in host environment, independently acquired multiple unique and convergent mutations.

"As a consequence, all have gained epidemiological and immunological properties that will likely complicate the control of Covid-19," noted their work. By examining patterns of mutations the scientists found evidence of a major change in the selective forces acting on immunologically important SARS-CoV-2 genes (such as N and S) that likely coincided with the emergence of 501Y lineages.

"Our findings highlight the importance of monitoring how members of these known 501Y lineages, and others still undiscovered, are convergently evolving similar strategies to ensure their persistence in the face of mounting infection and vaccine induced host immune recognition," they noted.

The scientists have hypothesized that other plausible contributors to the fitness advantage of viruses are that they produce more particles at anatomical sites suitable for optimal droplet or aerosol transmission.

UK House assails 'rights violations' in India

PUSHKAR BANAKAR @ New Delhi

INDIA'S handling of the ongoing farmers protests, including the arrest of activist Disha Ravi and the temporary internet clampdown, was sharply attacked in the British Parliament on Monday, as it took up an e-petition on freedom of press and safety of the agitators for debate.

The petition was introduced by Scottish National Party MP Martyn Day, who in his opening remarks, said that the merits of the three new farm laws were not up for debate as India as a sovereign state had the right to enforce legislations. "However, reports of usage of tear gas on protesters and suspension of internet has been seen and this is against international human rights," he said.

The e-petition, which was launched by Liberal Democratic Councillor Gurcharan Singh, saw over 1.15 lakh signatures. UK law mandates that petitions that draw over one lakh signatures must be debated in Parliament.

The lone MP who spoke in support of the Indian government was Teresa Villiers from the Conservative Party. She hailed the Indian government's decision to enforce farm laws as a democratic success story.

Former Labour Party leader Jeremy Corbyn said that the actions of Indian government were giving the impression that globalisation was being forced upon on them. "The nature in which the protesters have been attacked has been unprecedented. Internet has been suspended and journalists have been prevented from reporting," he said.

Almost every MP who spoke against the Indian government's actions cited the arrests of activists Disha Ravi, Nodeep Kaur and also mentioned how celebrities like Rihanna and Greta Thunberg had received backlash.

Indian and Pakistani origin MPs too lashed out at the BJP government for its handling of the protests. One of the most vocal critics of the Indian government and British MP Tamanjit Singh Dhesi said, "I have received many correspondences from my constituents of Indian origin and otherwise expressing a deep sense of anguish at the way that the Indian government has handled the protests," he said.

WITH less than a year left for the assembly polls and amid the ongoing farmers' protest against new farm laws, the Congress-led Punjab government has decided to loosen its purse strings in times of spiraling state debt for the time-tested populist loan waivers.

For 2021-22 the government has decided to waive loans amounting to ₹1,186 crore of 1.13 lakh farmers and ₹526 crore of landless farmers in the next phase.

There's more for women and students of government colleges: they will be allowed free travel in state transport-run buses. The state government will create 48,989 posts in state government to be filled in the first phase against 1 lakh vacancies. It has decided to raise the old age pension from ₹750 per month to ₹1,500.

Punjab Finance Minister Manpreet Singh Badal tabled the last budget of the Congress government on Monday. The state budget has an outlay of ₹1,68,015 crore for the financial year 2021-22. The state's debt has risen to ₹2,73,730 crore with the debt-to-GSDP ratio reaching an unprecedented 45.05. Meanwhile, Assembly Speaker Rana K P Singh revoked the suspension of 10 SAD legislators who were suspended for disrupting the proceedings of the House. He made this announcement after Akali MLA Lakhbir Singh Lodhinangal raised the issue of suspension when Manpreet Singh Badal was about to present his budget proposals.

SAINIK SCHOOL MODEL IN NAVODAYA VIDYALAYAS GETS PUSH

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

NEARLY a month after the Union finance minister announced setting up of 100 Sainik schools across India on PPP mode, balls have been set rolling to introduce the pattern in about 25 Navodaya schools in several states on a pilot basis.

Under the plan, initiated by the PMO in 2017, at least one school in each district of the country will be run on the pattern of existing Sainik schools to develop "the ethos of national spirit, indomitable courage, unfailing commitment to values of respect for country and society and imbibe the importance of physical fitness and embody the national pride".

As per the plan, while the current 36 Sainik schools under the Defence Ministry will be renamed as Rashtriya Sainik schools, others incorporating its elements will be known as "Sankalp group of sainik schools".

The Education Ministry, three years ago had suggested that Navodaya Vidyalaya, the residential schools from Classes VII to XII largely for students from rural areas, could adapt to the model. There are about 660 Navodaya Vidyalayas in the country, in every state except for Tamil Nadu. Vinayak Garg, NV Samiti commissioner could not be available for comments despite attempts to reach him but officials in the education ministry said that it is being "examined whether the model can be adopted for these set of schools."

"In my view, Sainik school and Navodaya school serve very different and distinct purposes and there is no need to merge their values as bringing quality and discipline cannot be achieved by simply making other schools into Sainik schools," said educationist Anjela Taneja.

Ambani bomb scare: NIA to probe case; CM raises doubt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi/Mumbai

The National Investigation Agency (NIA) will investigate the case relating to the recovery of explosives from a vehicle parked near industrialist Mukesh Ambani's residence in Mumbai.

Officials said the NIA took over the case following orders from the Ministry of Home Affairs. The agency is in the process of re-registering the case, the spokesperson of the anti-terror agency said.

The Scorpio, with 20 gelatin sticks inside, was found near Ambani's high-rise south Mumbai home on February 25. The police had said the vehicle was stolen from Airoli-Mulund Bridge on February 18. Hiren Mansukh, the owner of the vehicle, was found dead in a creek in Thane on Friday.

Commenting on the development, Maharashtra Home Minister Anil Deshmukh said: "It is the right of the NIA to take this case but the Maharashtra Police ATS was probing it well. But the Mansukh Hiren case and theft of the car will be probed by ATS alone."

Speaking in the Assembly, Deshmukh said after Hiran's wife expressed suspicion that her husband may have been murdered, the Anti-Terrorism Squad (ATS) registered a case against unidentified persons under IPC Sections 302 (murder), 201 (causing disappearance of evidence of offence) and 120(b) (criminal conspiracy).

CM Uddhav Thackeray said: "The ATS was probing the death of Hiren. The ATS was also probing the case relating to the recovery of explosives from the vehicle, and if it is handed over to the NIA, it means something is fishy in the entire matter."

CONSTITUTION BENCH SEEKS VIEWS OF ALL STATES ON RESERVATION AND THEIR POSITION ON ARTICLE 342A

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

ALMOST 30 years after it applied a 50% cap on reservation, the Supreme Court on Monday sought responses from all states on whether the ruling needs to be revisited. The ceiling was imposed by a nine-judge Constitution Bench in the Indira Sahwney case in 1992, also called the Mandal verdict.

States were also asked to respond to a 2018 Constitution (102nd Amendment) Act, which gave constitutional recognition to National Commission for Backward Classes. Article 342A was introduced via the amendment, through which the competence of states to make laws on reservation for backward classes was taken away.

"In view of the question of seminal importance on Article 342A, states have to be given opportunity to make their submissions," a five-judge bench headed by Justice Ashok Bhushan said. States have been asked to make submissions on whether they considered Article 342A against the federal structure of the Constitution.

Hearing a petition challenging a 2018 Maharashtra law to provide reservation to Marathas, the bench said it will now consider the law in light of larger questions of law. It has scheduled the hearing for March 15.

The Maharashtra State Reservation for Socially and Educationally Backward Classes Act, 2018, provided for a 16% reservation to Maratha community. In 2019, the Bombay High Court upheld the law, but reduced the reservation to 12% for admission to educational institutions and 13% for employment. The order was challenged in the Supreme Court, saying it violated the 50% reservation cap.

Poser to rape accused misreported: CJI

'Up to Bar to protect reputation'

When an advocate sought a mechanism to deal with such situations, Chief Justice of India S A Bobde said, "Our reputation is always at the hands of the Bar."

EXPRESSING concern over misreporting of his remarks during a recent hearing in a rape case in which he had asked the accused if he would marry the victim, Chief Justice of India S A Bobde said the court has always had the highest respect for womanhood.

"As an institution and as a bench in this court, we have always had the highest respect for the womanhood. We never asked the accused to marry the girl. We asked him 'Are you going to marry her'. There was complete misreporting," the CJI said while pointing out that his questions to the lawyer for the accused were on the facts of that particular case alone.

CJI Bobde's remark came during the hearing of a different case filed by a 14-year-old who had sought permission to abort her 26-week-old foetus. She had allegedly been raped by her cousin. The case was adjourned to Friday.

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta concurred with the CJI. According to Section 165 of the Evidence Act, "The judge may, in order to discover or to obtain proper proof of relevant facts, ask any question he pleases, in any form, at any time, of any witness, or of the parties, about any fact relevant or irrelevant… and neither the parties nor their agents shall be entitled to make any objection to any such question or order…"

Maharashtra budget offers sops for women and farmers

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

IN the backdrop of 8% negative growth, Maharashtra Finance Minister Ajit Pawar tabled the state's annual budget with the deficit of ₹23,643 crore. However, Pawar announced a discount of 1% on stamp duty and registration of a property if it is in a woman's name.

Pawar said that the state was passing through a difficult phase. "But this state belongs to warrior Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj; it will come out unscathed from the Covid-19-induced crisis."

Pawar announced various sops for women on the International Women's Day. This was Ajit Pawar's second annual budget of the Maha Vikas Aghadi government.

"If a property is purchased in the name of a woman or is transferred in a woman's name, then the government has decided to give 1% discount on stamp duty and registration. This move will empower women. Besides, the government will give free travel passes for girl students travelling by government-owned buses. We have also decided to set up a separate state-level women reserve force," Pawar said, adding that the decision will add ₹1,000-crore burden on the state exchequer.

The Finance Minister increased the excise duty on Liquor. The rate of VAT has been also increased on the sale of liquor from the existing 60 to 65%. The state is estimated to get additional revenue of ₹1,800 crore, Pawar said.

He said agriculture was the only sector that witnessed positive growth in a pandemic year. To boost this sector, the government has waived interest on crop loans of farmers up to ₹2 lakh on the loan amount.

Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray termed the budget as inclusive.

"This budget will again put the state on the path of not only recovery but boost the sectors that helped the state in the crisis time. We have focused on agriculture, health and infrastructure projects," he said.

BJP MLA's birthday bash turns battle ground

Two persons were killed following a brawl after the birthday party of a BJP MLA in Madhya Pradesh Damoh's district. The incident took place around 10 pm on Friday at Banwar village under Nohata police station area during the birthday bash of Jabera MLA Dharmendra Singh Lodhi. The incident took place two days before President Ram Nath Kovind was scheduled to visit Damoh district to attend a series of events. Two of the deceased have been identified as 30-year-old Jogendra Singh and Arvind Jai. The police said Jogendra Singh died of a gunshot and Arvind Jai was "beaten to death by some persons with stones and sticks" as per the initial investigation. According to Damoh district police sources, the brawl broke out between a group led by one Kalyan Singh and a rival group led by Arvind Jain, just after the MLA's birthday party. Four people have been booked in connection with the twin murders, two of whom have been arrested. Lodhi, however, denied any connection with the incident, saying it happened after he had left the party.

LOS ANGELES

SUICIDAL thoughts, a racist relative and an heir-to-the-throne trapped by tradition—Prince Harry and his wife Meghan have lifted the lid on life inside Britain's royal family with an explosive interview that reverberated around the world.

Explaining the couple's dramatic exit from royal life, Meghan said she found the life within the royal household very difficult to the point that she felt she didn't want to be alive anymore.

Asked if she was having suicidal thoughts, Meghan replied "Yes. This was very, very clear." "I... just didn't want to be alive anymore. And that was a very clear and real and frightening constant thought," she told Oprah Winfrey.

Meghan, 39, also told of royal "concerns" about "how dark" her son's skin would be, saying Harry revealed to her official concerns over Archie's appearance, as well as the security he would be entitled to, ahead of his birth on May 6, 2019.

"In those months when I was pregnant... we have in tandem the conversation of 'he won't be given security, he's not going to be given a title' and also concerns and conversations about how dark his skin might be when he's born," Meghan told Winfrey.

Taking aim squarely at the royals, Markle flatly denied reports that she made Kate Middleton cry before her wedding to Harry—saying the reverse was true.

"Everyone in the institution knew it wasn't true," Meghan told Winfrey of the reported incident—pored over at great length by the gossip press.

Meghan called the incident "the beginning of a real character assassination" and "a turning point" in her relations with the royal family.

"I came to understand that not only was I not being protected but that they were willing to lie to protect other members of the family," she said.

Meghan won wide-ranging support, including from tennis ace Serena Williams and Bernice King, daughter of the civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. Amid political calls for a full probe, UK PM Boris Johnson did not watch the interview but believes there is "no place in society for racism", his spokesman told reporters. AFP

DENIED HELP DURING MENTAL HEALTH CRISIS

Harry and Meghan painted an unflattering picture of life as British royals in their much-anticipated interview with legendary US television host Oprah Winfrey

UNHAPPY WITH RELATIVES

Meghan found royal life very isolating. She was unhappy with the way members of the royal household treated her, and felt aggrieved when limits were placed on what she could and could not do

Meghan sought help within the palace about her mental health. She approached a senior person, enquiring about the possibility of her getting treatment, but was told it would damage the royal reputation

HARRY SAYS MARRIAGE TO MEGHAN SAVED HIM

◆ Harry said he wouldn't have left the royal life if not for his wife. He said their relationship revealed the strictures of royal life

◆ "I wouldn't have been able to, because I myself was trapped," Harry said. "I was trapped, but I didn't know I was trapped," Harry said, before adding, "My father and my brother, they are trapped"

◆ Harry acknowledged that he does not have a close relationship presently with his brother William, who is heir to the throne after their father, Prince Charles

◆ He also said he and his wife Meghan Markle "did everything we could" to stay in the royal family

I WAS SO NAIVE ABOUT ROYAL LIFE: MEGHAN

Sunday's interview special opened with Meghan describing how naïve she was about the ground rules of royal life before she married her husband, Harry, nearly three years ago

"I didn't fully understand what the job was," she said. She also noted that she did not know how to curtsy before meeting Queen Elizabeth II for the first time, and didn't realise it would be necessary

Scion of Dassault family killed in chopper crash

PARIS

FRENCH billionaire Olivier Dassault, a politician and scion of the Dassault aircraft-making family, was killed in a helicopter crash on Sunday.

Dassault, 69 and a father-of-three, died around 6 pm when his helicopter crashed near the upmarket coastal resort of Deauville in northwest France, parliamentary and investigation sources told AFP.

French President Emmanuel Macron led tributes, saying in a tweet that "Olivier Dassault loved France. Captain of industry, local member of parliament, reserve commander in the air force; throughout his life he never stopped serving our country".

Macron called his death "a great loss" and sent his condolences to the Dassault family, one of the most influential in France with interests spanning aeronautics, defence, auctioneering, wine and the media.

The Dassault Aviation group has been a leading French plane manufacturer for the last 70 years and is behind the Falcon private jet, the Mirage warplane, and most recently the state-of-the art Rafale fighter.

Forbes magazine estimated that Olivier Dassault was the 361st most wealthy person on the planet in 2020, with a fortune estimated at around five billion euros ($6 billion)—around the same as his three siblings.

France's national air crash investigation agency, the BEA, said in a tweet that the crash had occurred shortly after take-off from "private grounds". AFP

200 cordoned off by Myanmar military

UN voices fears for their safety; three shot dead earlier

YANGON

THE United Nations said on Monday that Myanmar security forces had cordoned some 200 peaceful protesters in Yangon, voicing concern about their safety and demanding they be allowed to leave.

"We are deeply concerned about the fate of some 200 peaceful protesters—including women—who have been cordoned by security forces in Yangon, and may be at risk of arrest or ill-treatment," the UN rights office said in a tweet.

"We urge the police to immediately allow them to leave safely and without reprisals."

Earlier in the day, three anti-coup protesters were shot dead as demonstrators across the country vowed to paralyse the economy with strike action following a weekend of night raids and arrests.

Despite the risk, protesters rallied in parts of the commercial capital Yangon, the second-largest city Mandalay and other towns around the country.

In some areas, the authorities once again responded with force. In the northern city of Myitkyina, security forces used tear gas and opened fire during street clashes with stone-throwing protesters.

A live Facebook stream of the incident showed protesters dragging multiple wounded demonstrators away by the arms and legs. There was also grisly footage of bleeding bodies lying on beds as health workers frantically tried to resuscitate them. One man was also seen lying face down, with part of his skull blown out.

A poignant image in local media showed a Catholic nun in a white habit on her knees in the street, pleading with police to show restraint.

"Two men were shot dead on the spot, meanwhile three others including a woman were shot in the arm," a medic said. A third protester was shot dead in the town of Pyapon in the Irrawaddy Delta region, an eyewitness and a rescue official said. In Yangon, security forces raided the office of independent media outlet Myanmar Now.

"I can confirm that our office was raided in the afternoon today by a group of soldiers and police," editor-in-chief Swe Win told AFP. AFP

MACKENZIE TIES THE KNOT

SEATTLE

AMAZON billionaire MacKenzie Scott, one of the world's wealthiest women, has married a teacher in Seattle, two years after her divorce from Jeff Bezos. It was not clear when Scott, who is also a novelist and who has pledged to give most of her estimated $53 billion fortune away, and her new husband Dan Jewett got hitched.

Her Amazon page has been updated to state that she "lives in Seattle with her four children and her husband, Dan."

And they also now share a page on the Giving Pledge philanthropy website.

"It is strange to be writing a letter indicating I plan to give away the majority of my wealth during my lifetime, as I have never sought to gather the kind of wealth required to feel like saying such a thing would have particular meaning," Jewett wrote on it in an entry dated March 6.

Beneath a picture of the smiling couple, he continued: "In a stroke of happy coincidence, I am married to one of the most generous and kind people I know—and joining her in a commitment to pass on an enormous financial wealth to serve others." AFP

Employees out of race to run Air India, Tatas in fray

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

THE Air India employee consortium that had put in an Expression of Interest (EoI) for the privatisation of the national airline, has failed to make the cut to the next round. The consortium's bid was rejected as it failed to meet the eligibility criteria. With this fresh disqualification, now only two players are left in the race to acquire the Maharaja. While Tata Sons' interest to own the airline, which it had started, is known, SpiceJet's promoter Ajay Singh is said to have submitted an Expression of Interest in his personal capacity. Neither SpiceJet nor Singh have commented on the bid yet.

The airline's commercial director Meenakshi Malik, quoting an email sent to her by the Transaction Advisor Ernst & Young, in a letter to AI employees detailed why the consortium hasn't been shortlisted.

"The EOI and the supporting documents submitted by you have been duly evaluated and have been found to not fulfil the eligibility requirements set out in the Preliminary Information Memorandum (as amended) (PIM) issued in respect of the strategic disinvestment of Air India Limited (AI) and is liable for disqualification, including on account of: (A) non-submission of required three years audited financial statements for foreign consortium member...; (B) non-submission of information or details by IB... for investments in offshore companies, which form substantial part of Net Worth of foreign consortium member...; and (C) the Foreign consortium member not being an appropriately regulated Foreign Investment Fund as defined in the PIM," the email noted.

> I have seen an email from Transaction Advisor to the Government of India, informing the employees of Air India that we have been unsuccessful in qualifying to the next phase of the disinvestment...
>
> Meenakshi Malik
> Commercial director, AI

The consortium had received support from NRI businessman Laxmi Prasad and his New York-based Interups Fund. Separately, Kolkata-based businessman Pawan Ruia has also submitted an EoI, status of which is not known. However, the details of the qualified interested bidders (QIBs) has not been disclosed so far.

Govt mulls personal tax reforms next fiscal

Officials say that the government is waiting for returns to be filed this year, post which a decision will be taken

ANURADHA SHUKLA @ New Delhi

THE Centre is planning to overhaul the personal income tax structure as the dual-tax system is creating confusion among taxpayers.

"Tax reform is one of the top priorities of the government. After corporate tax reforms, it is time to re-look personal income tax," a senior financial ministry official told TNIE. In her Budget announcement in February, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman had proposed a new tax regime with more tax slabs and lower tax rates for taxpayers who agree to forego all deductions and exemptions available to them in the old tax regime. Those who wanted to continue with exemptions were given the option to continue with the old structure. This, however, was not received too well and tax experts pointed out that taxpayers would end up paying more under the new tax regime.

Sources said the Department of Revenue is likely to come up with the new tax structure in the next financial year. "We have received feedback that there are too many slabs. This is the first year taxpayers are filing under the new tax regime. We are waiting for the returns to be filed, which will give a better picture on how many opt for the new structure and how many stay with the old one. Only after analysing the data, will we go for an overhaul," said the finance ministry official cited above. The official added this was also one of the reasons personal income tax slab was left untouched in this year's Budget. Under the new regime, all exemptions and deductions under Section 80C (investments in PF, NPS, life insurance premium), Section 80D (medical insurance premium), and HRA and interest paid on housing loan will not be applicable. Even tax breaks for the disabled and for charitable donations will not be applicable.

Also, the fact that the new tax regime does away with the commonly availed section 80C deductions for provident fund contributions, life insurance premium, school tuition fee for children and various specified investments such as ELSS, NPS, PPF, etc has already miffed the salaried class while critics say it will discourage investment in these instruments among people.

'Over 60% new consumers see fall in incomes'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

NEARLY 63 per cent of the consumers in urban India under the 'newly constrained' category have seen their financial situation worsen leading them to consciously watch what they spend, according to a new report by NielsenIQ. This is higher than the 43 per cent global average of newly constrained set of consumers from the 16 surveyed countries. Consumers who were already watchful of their spends make up 10 per cent of the surveyed Indians, while 25 per cent have seen limited impact on their income but are watching what they spend more than before.

Consumers who do not have to worry about their expenses make up only three per cent of the surveyed urban Indians, the report said.

"This cautionary spending environment means brands will need to be laser-focused on this group's newly emerging need states. Assortment, pricing, innovation, and distribution of products will need to be recalibrated; and quickly," said Scott McKenzie, Global Head of the NielsenIQ Intelligence Unit. The report also highlighted that the consumption habits are expected to be different compared to what was experienced in 2020. Consumers are also uncertain about their financial future with 35 per cent of respondents saying they feel less confident about income prospects in the first half of this year. The report also suggests that consumers are increasingly driven by value with 46 per cent saying they are driven by the lowest price, irrespective of brand. About 31 per cent of the surveyed are also willing to cut back on grocery shopping if the economic situation worsened and 90 per cent want a better variety of value offers. "Even with positive news of vaccine deployment, urban consumers are likely to stay cautious and continue to control their spending. Brands and retailers need to understand how consumers' situations have changed," McKenzie added.

Tata Motors' shareholders approve hiving off PV business into new entity

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

TATA Motors' shareholders have approved separating its passenger vehicles (PV) business into a separate entity.

On March 5, the shareholders voted to consider and approve the transfer of the passenger vehicles business unit to TML Business Analytics Services Ltd as a going concern on a slump sale basis for a lump sum consideration. According to the company, its PV business has been valued at ₹9,417 crore. Last year, the company's board had approved a plan to hive off its passenger vehicles, including electric vehicles, business into a separate subsidiary through a scheme of arrangement and look for a strategic partnership to secure its long-term viability. Besides, the company management had previously stated that it expects the process to be completed around May-June this year.

In a regulatory filing, Tata Motors said total 2,15,41,38,392 votes were polled out of which 2,15,32,39,294 were in favour of the resolution, translating into 99.95 per cent of the total votes, while 8,99,098 votes (0.042 per cent) were against. In terms of public institutional shareholders, total 68,86,10,054 votes were polled with all of them in favour and none against the resolution. Earlier this year, there was a strong buzz that Tata may join hands with Elon Musk's Tesla to lead India's electrification drive. However, Tata Motors had in January this year denied the speculations. Tesla, on the other hand, is expected to set up an electric-car manufacturing unit in Karnataka.

Coal India's result reflects broad recovery in power demand (albeit aided by the low base of last year. PSU bank sends Kotak Bank users into a tizzy

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

AN unusual glitch on Monday saw several Kotak Mahindra Bank account holders getting wrong debit messages, creating panic among customers, some of whom took to social media to report the issue.

"Massive technical glitch in Kotak Bank, it seems. ₹81,972 debited from my account (I don't even have that much in all my a/cs put together). Call centre exec says ppl have lost ₹6 lakh+ or ₹1 lakh +, so I shouldn't worry. Wait for 24 hours, she said," tweeted an irate customer of the bank.

When contacted, a Kotak Mahindra Bank spokesperson told this publication that the issue has been resolved and that it was not widespread. With more users tweeting that they had also received such debit messages, the Mumbai-based private bank later issued a short statement saying the glitch was due to wrong settlement claims by a public sector lender for Kotak debit cards used on the PSU bank's point of sales (POS) terminals. "A PSU bank has claimed wrong amounts in the settlement file for card transactions done at merchant establishments managed by the PSU Bank's POS. This has resulted in excess debit from customers' bank accounts. All such excess debits have already been reversed," said Rohit Rao, chief communication officer, Kotak Mahindra Group.

Amid instances of banking fraud becoming too common, it could not be immediately ascertained which state-owned lender had claimed the wrong amounts and if it was a technical glitch or human error.

Google to support 10 lakh women entrepreneurs

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

TO support the economic empowerment of women, Google and Alphabet CEO Sundar Pichai on Monday announced a total of $25 million in grants to nonprofits and social enterprises in India and around the world. The tech giant also announced supporting 1 million (10 lakh) women in rural villages of India to become entrepreneurs through business tutorials, tools and mentorship, as part of the Google Internet Saathi programme.

"Women are almost twice as likely to lose their jobs during the pandemic and an estimated 20 million girls are at risk of not returning to school. We have the opportunity to build a future that is more equal and more inclusive - and we must take it," Pichai said at the virtual edition of Google for India event called Women Will on the occasion of International Women's Day. Available in English and Hindi, the Women Will platform is designed especially for women aspiring to explore entrepreneurship. To begin with, the platform would work with 2,000 Internet Saathis to help other women gain from this resource and start on their entrepreneurial journey. That apart, Google has also announced a $500,000 Google.org grant to Nasscom Foundation to support 1 lakh women agriculture workers with digital and financial literacy.

Meanwhile, the virtual on Monday event also marked the completion of Google's joint effort with Tata Trusts to empower women across rural India with digital literacy skills via the Internet Saathi programme that was launched in 2015.

Laporta back as Barcelona president

Joan Laporta returned as Barcelona president after winning the club's elections by a landslide, with his central pledge to try to persuade Lionel Messi to stay. He was last president at Barca between 2003 and 2010, which included overseeing the appointment of Pep Guardiola.

Karnataka book SF berth in Vijay Hazare

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

DEFENDING champions Karnataka rode on the brilliance of openers Ravikumar Samarth, Devdutt Padikkal and pacer Ronit More to beat Kerala by 81 runs at the Airforce Complex Ground in Palam, New Delhi on Monday to reach the semifinals of the Vijay Hazare Trophy. Samarth (192) and Padikkal (101), who scored his fourth straight hundred, gave their team a solid start. By the time Padikkal was out in the 43rd over, the score read 249/1.

Padikkal's innings comprised 10 fours and two sixes. Samarth was eight short of the double hundred. He hit 22 fours and three sixes. The duo helped Karnataka end up with 338/3.

In the second innings, Ronit More struck early and went on to finish with a fifer. Kerala were then reduced to 111/4 with the likes of Sachin Baby (27) and Vishnu Vinod (28) also back in the hut. Though Vatshal Govind (92) and Mohammed Azharuddin (52) gave it their all, they were eventually bundled out for 258 in the 44th over.

In the other game Gujarat beat Andhra by 117 runs to reach the semifinal. Priyank Panchal scored a 134 to help Gujarat post 299/7. Andhra's batting let them down in the second innings. They were all out for 182 runs while chasing. Arzan Nagwaswalla (4/28) starred for Gujarat with the ball.

Bajrang targets top seeding

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

A TOP-OF-THE-PODIUM finish at the Matteo Pellicone Ranking Series in Rome on Sunday meant Bajrang Punia became world number one wrestler in the 65kg weight category. After making a winning return, Bajrang now wants to compete in a few more tournaments before boarding the Tokyo flight for the Olympics.

"The (Rome) Ranking Series was the first international tournament for me after the Asian Championships in February 2020 in New Delhi. It's good that I retained my title here. I hope we get a few more tournaments in future as well. Personally, I would like to compete in two-three tournaments before the Games as it will give me a chance to work on my weaknesses and improve as much as possible," Bajrang told this daily.

The Tokyo 2020 seeding is almost complete, but there are still two tournaments where athletes can gain points. But the Indian wrestlers can earn points for the 2021 Games only through the Poland Open (June 8-13). Asian Continental Championships is the other event and only athletes from China, Turkmenistan and North Korea can earn points from the event as they didn't compete in the 2020 event due to Covid-based travel restrictions.

"Seeding will be important as far as the Games is concerned. The top-four seeding helps wrestlers in getting favourable draw. One more event is left to earn points. I hope to continue the good show there," added Bajrang, who has been guaranteed a top-four seeding in the Games.

The top-four in each weight category get a seeding at the Olympics, which helps them avoid facing each other in the initial rounds. That in turn increases their chances of making it to the medal round. Bajrang, who sealed the Tokyo spot by winning a bronze in the 2019 World Championships, admitted that making a comeback after a year of forced-break was not an easy task. "Making a comeback into the competitive wrestling after a year was difficult, but it was equally satisfying. Not only athletes, everyone suffered a lot due to pandemic. But I am glad, the competitions have resumed."

The Haryana grappler will rejoin the national camp before flying out for Kazakhstan for the Asian Championships scheduled in Almaty from April 13. He is expected to train overseas after the event. "A camp may be held in Kazakhstan for the Asian Championships subject to approval from the Indian government and the Wrestling Federation of India. We are planning to go out for an exposure trip after the event. We are waiting for final approval," Bajrang's foreign coach Shako Bentinidis said.

Oly-bound archers get Covid vaccine

AYANTAN CHOWDHURY @New Delhi

IN an interesting development, a few Olympic-bound archers got their first dose of Covid-19 vaccine after the end of the trials on Monday. They could be among the first few Olympic-bound athletes to get the jab. As many as 16 recurve archers are stationed in Army Institute of Sports, Pune, for camp and trials for the postponed Tokyo Olympics. It is understood that the the archers were informed about the availability of the jab at the ASI medical centre and whosoever wished could take it. Since it was voluntary, some including a few Olympic-bound archers preferred to take.

Interestingly, the sports ministry had been saying that Olympic-bound athletes are their priority but had not fixed a date for rolling out of the vaccination process as yet. The sports minister had always maintained that Covid-warriors were country's priority and Olympic-bound athletes come next. The archers who took the jab were happy with the smooth operation. They were administered Covishield. But an issue could arise out of the camp going into a 12-day break after the trials.

Trials for Tokyo

The trio of Pravin Jadhav, Atanu Das and Tarundeep Rai made the cut during the final selection trial to select the recurve team for Tokyo Olympics. Jadhav topped the trials, while Atanu and Tarundeep finished second and third. The trio had won a World Championship silver medal in 's-Hertogenbosch in the Netherlands in June 2019 while also secure a quota in the Olympic team event. Jadhav will be making his Olympic debut.

Tempers flare up after FCBU, BFC match

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

In a BDFA Super Division clash between FC Bengaluru United (FCBU) and Bengaluru FC (BFC), things spiralled out of control after regulation time. The frustration levels had gradually piled up in the BFC camp after being denied a couple of late handball shouts inside the box.

As the final whistle blew with FCBU winning 3-2, BFC player Harpreet Singh was given his marching orders. The defender, besides abusing the referee, allegedly threw his leg at him. The scenes, which followed, at the Bangalore Football Stadium was shameful with BFC staff, players, match referees and some spectators involved in an unruly behaviour.

The scenario was such that police was called to control the situation. It was under police protection that referees left the venue. The BDFA will take proper action only after seeing the referee report about the incident.

The closely fought contest was, however, overshadowed by the off-field moments.

IPL venues may get T20 WC matches too

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

THE six cities that will host the upcoming IPL are likely to be the ones that the BCCI will shortlist as venues for the T20 World Cup scheduled for October-November this year. Usually, venues and dates for International Cricket Council (ICC) events are announced at least six months prior to the start of the tournament, but this time there could be a delay because of Covid-19 complications. It is understood that the BCCI was initially planning to host the event in eight cities, clearly more than what the ICC wishes. However, the prevailing situation due to coronavirus has made the BCCI rethink it as it is keen to avoid travel complications. The upcoming IPL will now act as a dress rehearsal for the T20 World Cup as the BCCI is looking to explore whether a similar caravan format can be used for the world event.

Unlike the IPL which involves only eight teams, the T20 World Cup will involve 16 sides before it becomes a 12-team event from the second round. Initially, the BCCI had shortlisted Mumbai, Ahmedabad, Chennai, Delhi, Kolkata, Bengaluru, Mohali and Dharamsala as venues, but it is now exploring other options. Keeping it in six cities means Mohali and Dharamsala could miss out and the BCCI is pondering whether the two cities can host the first round of matches involving the six qualified teams apart from Sri Lanka and Bangladesh.

The Super-12 stage, which has two groups, won't require more than two cities to host matches. "Moving from one city to the other for one match will come with a huge risk. If the venue count is down, it will help us in delivering a smooth tournament. If need be, a similar schedule like IPL where matches are restricted to not more than two cities at a given point of time will be considered. We have to be flexible as possible," a BCCI official told Express.

The BCCI as of now is planning to recommend at least six venues with Chennai and Bengaluru being pushed as hosts for the semifinals and Ahmedabad for the final. Since Mumbai, Delhi and Kolkata hosted the knockouts in 2016, they might miss out this time. But considering the importance of Wankhede Stadium and Eden Gardens, whether the BCCI will leave them out for knockouts isn't clear as yet.

Travel issues & inability to hold trials force SFI to cancel nat'ls

SRINIDHI PR @Chennai

IN A major setback for swimmers, Swimming Federation of India (SFI) announced that the delayed senior nationals for 2020-21 will not be conducted due to the pandemic. It was scheduled to be held from March 24-27 in Rajkot. This means that they will not compete in a national competition in 2020-21 season.

According to SFI, the reason to cancel the event was due to the new travel restrictions imposed by several states in the wake of a surge in the number of coronavirus cases in the country. Gujarat, Rajasthan, Madhya Pradesh and Maharashtra have all imposed new guidelines which includes that a negative Covid-19 report is mandatory for people arriving from other states.

"We are a bit disappointed. We were looking forward to hosting the nationals," Monal Choksi, SFI's secretary-general told Express. "Gujarat and the neighbouring states have fresh travel restrictions in place. Even though the event was to begin on March 24, we felt the situation might not be under control. Most of the players come by train. So for them, it's a little unsafe."

Most of the states in the northern part of the country are just about reopening the pools due to the onset of winter. With swimmers yet to get back into shape, 16 of the state associations were unable to conduct the selection trials prior to the nationals and expressed their inability to send the names to the federation. Pools in states such as Rajasthan, New Delhi, Haryana, Uttar Pradesh, West Bengal, Assam reopened only 10 days ago. The SFI felt it wouldn't be ideal to conduct a national meet with only a handful of swimmers taking part in it.

Germany has begun ramping up the use of the coronavirus vaccine made by AstraZeneca, after authorities last week gave the green light for it to be given to people age 65+. The country has received 2.1 million doses of the AstraZeneca shot so far, but administered just 7,21,000.

EXFILE • RESEARCH

THE BIG PICTURE

The consensus among cognition researchers is that people generally take in the things they see as a whole first and then focus on the details. Children also process what they see in this way, but a new study offers evidence of how modern technology is changing how kids perceive the world

DIGITAL DIMENSION

The stereotype of young children being glued to handheld devices has been around for years, yet it's not easy to pin down how this changes their mental development. This recent study in the journal Computers in Human Behavior looked at the attention pattern of 120 kids aged between 4 and 6

STUDY METHOD

Those who played the mobile game noticed the stars first when they saw the picture. Kids who played physically noticed the Sun first

Noticing the stars first indicates prioritised attention to local details, whereas registering the Sun first suggests a global or overall focus

RESEARCH IMPLICATIONS

Does the study results mean kids who play a lot of mobile games have a radically different perception of the world? Short answer: We can't say for sure yet. What the results do indicate is that at a time when the human brain is plastic, any prolonged exposure to digital devices could have significant long-term impact

PATHS OF THE MIND

Past studies suggest that those who focus a lot on details tend to be analytical in thinking, but are "less creative and have weaker social skills," said a release from Alpha Generation Lab at the Eötvös Loránd University in Budapest. If this is true, then increased exposure to digital devices may mean that this generation of children, who were born after 2010, may grow up to be more scientific, and less artistic and social

57 million rapid Covid tests to support UK school reopening

EDUCATION

LONDON: British students, backed by a robust coronavirus testing program, are gearing up to return to school Monday after a two-month closure, in what Prime Minister Boris Johnson says is a plan to get the country "moving closer to a sense of normality."

The reopening of schools is the first step in the U.K. government's plan to gradually ease COVID-19 restrictions as the country's vaccination drive gains critical mass, with all restrictions lifted by June.

As part of the plan, millions of high school and college students coming back to U.K. classrooms will be tested for the virus for the first few weeks. Authorities want to quickly detect and isolate asymptomatic cases in order to avoid sending entire schools home.

"We are being cautious in our approach so that we do not undo the progress we have made so far," Johnson said in a statement, urging everyone who is eligible to get vaccinated.

High schools and colleges will be allowed to reopen in phases to allow for three rounds of testing. Students will then get kits so they can test themselves twice more at home. The U.K. government has distributed nearly 57 million rapid "lateral flow" test kits to schools across the country, but there are concerns about the accuracy of the tests, which may result in pupils being forced to self-isolate unnecessarily.

Covid travel pass trialled

HEALTH

Singapore Airlines will begin trialling a coronavirus digital travel pass developed by aviation's industry body next week, the carrier said Monday, the first airline to pilot the scheme as the pandemic-hit sector seeks to recover. The app has been developed by International Air Transport Association.

VACCINATED CAN GATHER SANS MASK

If you have gotten required number of doses, you can mingle freely with other fully vaccinated

HEALTH

NEW YORK: Fully-vaccinated Americans can gather with other vaccinated people indoors without wearing a mask or social distancing, according to long-awaited guidance from US health officials.

The recommendations also say that vaccinated people can come together in the same way with people considered at low-risk for severe disease, such as in the case of vaccinated grandparents visiting healthy children and grandchildren.

The US Centers for Disease Control and Prevention announced the guidance on Monday.

The guidance is designed to address a growing demand, as more adults have been getting vaccinated and wondering if it gives them greater freedom to visit family members, travel, or do other things like they did before the Covid-19 pandemic swept the world last year.

"We know that people want to get vaccinated so they can get back to doing the things they enjoy with the people they love," said CDC Director Dr. Rochelle Walensky, in a statement.

The CDC is continuing to recommend that fully vaccinated people continue to wear well-fitted masks, avoid large gatherings, and physically distance themselves from others when out in public. The CDC also advised vaccinated people to get tested if they develop symptoms that could be related to Covid-19.

Officials say a person is considered fully vaccinated two weeks after receiving the last required dose of vaccine.

DARK TRUTHS

Meghan Markle's interview with Oprah Winfrey brought out some open secrets on colourism and racism. Bengaluru girls tell City Express their experiences closer home

MONIKA MONALISA

WHILE it was anticipated that Meghan Markle and Harry's chat with Oprah Winfrey would be a blockbuster, it opened a can of worms on colourism and discrimination. For instance, she spoke about how the ex-royal couple's son Archie's skin colour became a topic of concern for many in the British royal family. The issue could be happening thousands of miles away from the city, but the same concern is still relevant in Bengaluru.

Many women in the city face issues of colourism on a regular basis. Golden skin, dusky beauty...these are just a few of the adjectives that model Sangeetha Ramesh is used to hearing. Does this spill into the kind of work they get? "Yes, we get far less work than fair-skinned models," she says, adding, "There are times when there is a model requirement with the word 'upmarket face' mentioned. This is synonymous with fair skin. I have a huge issue with the fact that the words 'black' and 'dark' are always associated with something dirty, poor or bad," says Ramesh, who has been modelling for more than four years now. Although there's much talk about inclusivity and raising voice against colour discrimination, Ramesh says the reality of the matter is slightly different. She further adds, "If you check out brands like Flying Machine, they mostly have white-skinned models. Even e-commerce sites like Myntra have mostly foreign figures who model in sarees." CE reached out to the e-commerce platform, but did not get a response in time.

Fashion and entertainment industries could be one of the first to get the limelight, purely for their focus on physical presentation, but it does not stop there. Nikitha Badas, mechatronics engineer, has been facing the issue right from her childhood. "I am a single child and my mother was always pitied because I was dusky," says Badas.

She recalls the first time she wanted to apply foundation and was suggested one which was four shades lighter than her skin tone. "When I moved to Germany to do my masters, I realised I can get a foundation according to my skin tone. It was when I moved abroad that I was complimented for my skin tone," says Badas.

The process of changing mindsets may be slow, but it's happening slowly. Model and actor Nicole Faria, who has been in the industry for long enough to have seen it all, finds that the idea of colour in India is changing. "In the fashion industry, people are focusing on the beauty of the dusky skin. I have been lucky to be surrounded by these kinds of people. My advice to anyone facing any sort of colour discrimination or to those starting off is to have confidence and conviction. That's what helped me," says Faria.

Model-singer Bhavna Menon's latest Hindi single Nazadikiyan, produced by Sanjeev Thomas, is here to make a new addition to your indie playlist

SONG OF THE SEASON

MONIKA MONALISA

SINGER Bhavna Menon considers herself to be the 'happiest girl' now. And why not since she recently released her first song of the year. Nazadikiyan, which is the new Indie song on the block, was released recently on her YouTube channel.

The romantic number is a soulful yet dreamy number. "It is always a good feeling to have a new song released, especially if work has come out the way you had imagined it," says the 23-year-old singer-model.

The lyrics of the song which she wrote in Hindi were hardly challenging. "My father was in the Navy and I lived a nomadic life which helped me get comfortable with the language," she says. Menon's last song was Tasiir, which was out in 2020. Ask her what took her so long for the next one, and she says for her it's about the quality of the music rather than the number of songs she releases.

What makes the song even more special according to her is that it is produced by Sanjeev Thomas, who has worked with big names in the music industry, like AR Rahman, has always been on the checklist of any new artiste to work with. Menon considers it nothing less than a golden opportunity. "Initially, it was daunting to work with an experienced musician like Thomas, but the experience taught me a lot about music. Though he comes with so much experience, he incorporated the things I wanted for the song so that it remains mine. It is no wonder that he is the best in the industry," says Menon, adding that Thomas added a new perspective. "Right now he is working on indie music himself and is also supporting many upcoming artistes," she adds.

If the music is calming, the video is no less cinematic. Directed by Saad Khan, it was shot on the outskirts of the city. "The song was set in a particular mood, and it was very important that the visuals matched. It's all been captured beautifully."

Acid attack survivors convey positive and inspiring messages in this music video, which is an anthem for fellow survivors

EXPRESS FEATURES

LIFE changes in a moment and acid attack survivors can vouch for that. Like survivor Heena puts it, "We don't need your sympathy. We need your love and support." Which is why this original music video released on Women's Day, is meant to be an anthem of sorts for acid attack survivors. Called Hum Shakti Hai, this was an attempt to convey inspiring messages and features survivors. It is created by From Mug To Mike, a platform for bathroom singers, and Atijeevan Foundation, founded by Pragya Prasun, an acid attack survivor, who has helped few hundreds of other victims recover and get back to normal life.

The song showcases the struggle, strength and resolve of acid attack survivors. It sends a message that we all are equal and deserve equal opportunities in the society. This revolves around the philosophy of finding strength from within.

The music of the video is composed by Sunil Koshy, the founder of From Mug To Mike, who has also sung the song along with some of his students who are from different walks of lives – doctor, engineers, scientists, and corporates. "The music video release was supported by online campaigns and awareness talks and video bytes of survivors from across India, in an attempt to educate people about acid attacks, and how one can help in any way possible. Even a small gesture would make a difference, and to accept them as one of us," says Koshy, adding, "We also want to support survivors' hobbies, especially singing, give them training, a platform and encourage them to take it further."

Acid attack survivors like Deepmala Tiwari wonder how long people will give importance to external beauty. "Beauty is light which comes from within," she says. To which surviour Shabnam Sultana, adds, "Don't judge me for what happened to me, see what I am capable of doing." Acid attack survivor Mokima Khatun sums it up best, "Either I keep clinging onto my past or accept myself and look forward to a bright future. I prefer to do the later."

FIT BIT

PARIVRTTA UTKATA KONASANA

(REVOLVED GODDESS POSE)

In Sanskrit, 'Parivrtta' means 'revolved', 'utkata' means 'fierce', 'kona' means 'angle' and 'asana' means 'pose'. It is a twisted variation of Utkata Konasana. This is an ideal posture for cleansing and stimulating the body. It is also ideal for honouring the goddess or the femininity within. This cultivates strength and vivacity, and combined with the releasing twist, can invigorate the body for new life and zest. Traditionally, it stimulates the Swadhisthana (spleen/sacral) Chakra, which helps to connect with sensuality and creativity. Balancing this area is said to help experience more pleasure. The mantra, Vam, can be chanted while practising this pose to enhance the benefits.

STEPS

- Stand in Tadasana (Mountain Pose). Keep your feet twice the width of your hips apart.
- Now, inhale and put your body weight on your legs while you get down towards the floor like Utkatasana (Chair Pose).
- Exhale and rotate your hips outward. This will turn your toes away from each other.
- Inhale, again draw your internal power and exhale bending deeply into your hips duly extending your knees out over your toes.
- Place your hands on the thighs, close to your knees and inhale to stretch your spine.
- Exhale, twist your spine to the right, pressing your hands on your inner thighs. Simultaneously, draw your tailbone down towards the floor and your gluteal muscles inward toward one another.
- You can stay in this position for 15-20 seconds, maintaining normal breath.
- Inhale, bring your torso straight and slowly come back to the original position and then relax yourself.
- Repeat the same procedure on the other side as well.

BENEFITS

- Strengthens hips, lower back and thigh muscles.
- Helps broaden the chest and correct postural defects.
- Massages kidneys, ovaries, urinary system and the prostate gland.
- Enhances the functioning of organs in the thorax.
- Energizes the body, relieves stress.
- Relieves menstrual pain.
- Detoxifies the body and mind while increasing a sense of groundedness.

LIMITATIONS

- Those suffering from hip, ankle and knee injuries can avoid this.
- Avoid this pose, if you have shoulder problems.
- Don't go beyond your limit when widening your legs.

With the distinction of being the youngest International Master from Karnataka, this 14-year-old is surely making the right moves

CHECKING BOXES

SANATH PRASAD

PRANAV Anand was asked to choose between two boards – a chessboard and a ludo board. Pranav chose the first and started his chess journey at the age of 7. He has just bagged the title of an International Master and happens to be the youngest to hold this distinction from Karnataka. He has a live rating of 2,417 points. At the age of 14 years, 3 months and 15 days, he officially earned the title earlier this month after winning in International Masters and Grandmaster norms in Serbia. "This is just the beginning. I have a lot more to do ahead. My aim is to win the world championship in chess," says Pranav.

He has two principles in his rule book – hard work and practice that has yielded him victories in international arenas. Anand scored the first norm in Rilton Cup in Sweden (2019), the second norm in Switzerland (2019) and third norm in Russia (2020) and was just 19 points away from becoming an International Master before the pandemic hit. He travelled to Serbia in February this year to participate in the Grand Master Round Robin tournament and qualified for the international master after defeating grandmaster Stefan Djuric in the third round. Talking about the winning moment during the tournament, Pranav says, "I did not know that I became an international master until the 8th round. I heard it only from my fellow chess player."

Although he was trained under different coaches, his father still remains his first coach. "I held the chess piece for the first time when I was 7, and since then I have been hooked to the game," says Pranav. Becoming an international master at a very young age comes with practice and commitment, which Pranav believes is the key to achieving this feat. "I train for seven to eight hours a day. Sometimes it extends to nine hours as well. My focus is always to work hard and improve my game and win. At the same time, I also balance my academics well," adds Pranav.

V Saravanan, who is currently coaching Pranav, finds him "obsessed" with chess. "Generally, I mentor grandmasters and work a little less on coaching. But Pranav's case is an exception because chess has consumed him. I recommend a lot of chess-related books to him. I upload the material on cloud, and he reads it all up in no time. There is no doubt that he will become a grandmaster very soon."

Anand A, Pranav's father, says, "As parents, we have always been proud and happy for him. He has won state, national, international tournaments and he is now preparing to become a grandmaster." Anand, who works as a technology professional, adds that his son prefers to always wear a sweatshirt during tournaments. "He never wears a T-shirt," he points out.

Although chess seems to have consumed him, Pranav also spends time playing football and video games to beat his stress. He draws his inspiration from Viswanathan Anand, Magnus Carlsen and also grabbed the opportunity to interact with them and share his performance stats with them during a tournament in the UK.

A NILLIONAIRE? YOU HAVE NIL MONEY!

OPEN SPACE
Utthara Kumari B
Associate Editor
uttharakumari@newindianexpress.com

I don't understand money. All I understand is that while the rupee comes, it goes faster than it comes. My income and expenditure never meet, however, hard I try. And I am not a spendthrift and my wants are simple.

I realise that life is much more expensive today than it was for our parents, and our parents would have felt the same about their parents' times. I remember the balcony ticket in a theatre would be just ₹2, 1 kg of Basmati rice would cost ₹5, and gold per gram ₹95, some 50 years ago.

I remember there was an independent house for sale for ₹16,000 in the heart of Bengaluru in the early 1970s. It was considered a huge sum those days. We didn't have that kind of money to buy it. Today perhaps that amount looks laughable.

Once upon a time, a 'lakhpati' (one who possessed at least ₹1 lakh) was considered rich. Accordingly, in movies, you would have the gang looting ₹10,000 or holding a child for ransom for this princely sum. And the money on the kidnapper's head would be ₹1,000! Today, eating out costs much more.

I am not so naive as to think that the prices will remain the same. Buying a house, education, health – all have become expensive. And the fuel price hitting a century today is enough proof that prices are indeed going up very fast.

Everyone keeps saying prices have gone up – so from the laundry man to the grocery shop owner to the milk supplier to the clothes merchant – keep increasing the rates. But then, the salaried class is stuck in a time freeze... won't get more pay even if they scream and say prices are going up.

While some prices have risen more drastically than others, one thing is clear: The cost of living has hit the roof. Is inflation the only cause?

Experts tell us that ₹1 crore today will be worth only ₹36 lakh in 15 years. So the number of zeroes is not going to help.

Why, even a reality show has increased the prize money from ₹1 crore to ₹7 crore! That should tell us about how things are today.

But though income has been increasing, the real income has been falling. In the last one year, maybe because of the pandemic, my grocery bill has more than doubled. And because of the economic downturn, the light at the end of the tunnel seems to have been turned off.

As someone said, the quickest way to double your money is to fold it in half and put it in the purse!

And the hardest thing is to understand the taxes. You earn money, you pay tax; you save money, yet, you pay tax. So you spend, and still you have to pay tax.

Is money all that important? Yes, to survive, even if its value is going down every day. Someone once pompously said, "Money is not everything in life." A wisecrack replied: "Make a lot of it before talking such nonsense." Agree!

Bengaluru's zero-waste advocate Sahar Mansoor has brought out a guide book that provides personal insights and interactive activities to help the reader transition to a more sustainable lifestyle

GREEN TOUCH

EXPRESS FEATURES

Health and environmental issues have come to the fore in the last one year. With increasing number of people becoming conscious about their choices, the recently-released book, Bare Necessities: How to Live a Zero-Waste Life, by Sahar Mansoor and Tim de Ridder aims to provide personal insights, interactive activities and solutions that can help you transition to a more sustainable lifestyle."The book has taken a staged approach where the reader journeys through topics that are intimate such as personal care routines and fashion choices, to more communal areas of life such as the kitchen, home care and festival occasions. It also looks at broad aspects of life, including the community and global impacts of waste. One of the fantastic things that we have achieved is to provide a toolkit of zero-waste information and insights throughout, such as my personal stories about how to make zero-waste products such as toothpaste and food such as holige," says Mansoor.

Published by Penguin, the guide (₹299) includes activity sheets to share ideas with friends and families throughout the text. "We have provided recipes, tips and tricks and other ideas to help people learn, and enjoy the zero-waste journey," says Mansoor, who has been working in the sustainability sector since 2015, participating in areas like waste reduction and climate change. Ridder and she began putting pen to paper in September 2019. "Unfortunately he had to work abroad from October to January last year. We had to face challenges such as scheduling meetings across time zones. When the borders were closed in March 2020, he stayed permanently in Australia," she says. The situation also provided them a new perspective, and prompted them to add valuable sections in the final version. "We would love the book to be used in schools, where kids can learn about the wealth of resources available in India. There are opportunities to learn how to compost, create a community garden and make sustainable gifts," says Mansoor.

Mum over memes

LOVEOLOGY
Mahesh Natarajan

There's a meme going around on the internet with the line, "You can only truly love someone as much as you love yourself." It came across a couple of times, with slightly different backgrounds – once with someone looking at another person in the distance on the calm waters of a possibly Goan sunset, and another was a picture of someone standing at the fluttering colourful flags of a Buddhist stupa across a barren landscape, like one might find in Ladakh. Both pictures chosen as evocative of that longing to love and be loved one supposes, though the message could easily be juxtaposed to one person looking at the camera in a crowd of masked commuters in a Mumbai suburban train, or amongst the crowds at Times Square, New York, or even an ordinary domestic scene of a person sipping their tumbler of coffee with their daily newspaper.

"You can only truly love someone as much as you love yourself."

If you haven't seen the meme, you might still be able to visualise any image, think of the caption above and you might feel it really fits and that there's something that rings very true about it.

Is it, though?

Are we really limited in our ability to love or be loved in this way? Or any other way, for that matter? An equally powerful set of words that is bandied about on love is, "You can only love as much as you were loved yourself," and that too rings true. Check it for yourself. Imagine those words against the images described above and see what you feel -- chances are you might find yourself resonating with it, thinking it is true and maybe even sighing a little, thinking that's what it is – you don't love yourself enough or you weren't loved enough yourself, and so you can't really love as deeply as others seem able to love.

These are akin to memes that come around that start with "Psychology says," and go on to assert something that may have no real basis except maybe that somebody thought of those words strung together and it sounded right. There are hundreds of millions of such thoughts that go around, and we tend to go by what we resonate with, rather than check to see if that's really true.

The honest to goodness truth is that there's nothing definite about any of it, and certainly nothing that limits love to one's love for oneself or how one has been loved. Even for people who may have experienced trauma or abuse as a child, it does not set a ceiling for how much love one is capable of giving or receiving, though it might take a fair bit of work to get through the impacts of such trauma.

We really don't need such memes floating around. They aren't true and they are such a disservice to society, and it is saddest if someone reading them believes it and therefore limits themselves.

You want a real act of love? If you get such memes, don't share them.

KRISHNA BEGINS WORK ON NAGENDRA PRASAD'S DEBUT DIRECTORIAL

The romantic fantasy drama, which stars Puneeth Rajkumar in a pivotal role, has 777 Charlie heroine Sangeetha Sringeri playing the female lead

A SHARADHAA

KRISHNA is back at work post his wedding, and has joined the sets of Nagendra Prasad's yet-to-be-titled film. Shooting for the movie began last week. The actor, who tied the knot with Milana Nagaraj on Feb. 14, is said to have completed a day's shooting for his directorial, Love Mocktial 2, before joining the sets of his next.

Actor-choreographer Nagendra Prasad is making his directorial debut with the Kannada film, which is inspired by the Tamil romantic fantasy drama, Oh My Kadavule. It will also have Power Star Puneeth Rajkumar making an appearance in a pivotal role. Though not much has been revealed about the title, the cast and the crew, CE has learned that Sangeetha Sringeri is playing the female lead. This is the next project for her after 777 Charlie, and she is said to be participating in the shoot currently. The major portions of the film will be shot in Bengaluru while some parts will be filmed in Kerala. Krishna will complete a schedule of this film until March 23, after which he will head to Goa to resume shooting for Deepak Aras' Sugar Factory.

Upendra-Shashank collaboration to begin in April-end

The filmmakers have hopped back to the original script, which was agreed upon before the pandemic; the family drama will be shot in three seasons

CE FEATURES

UPENDRA, who completed filming his portions for a Telugu film, resumed shooting for R Chandru's Kabzaa on March 3. He has now assigned dates for his next, in which he is working with director Shashank. It will begin in April-end, and the Real Star will be juggling these two projects. The film, which was officially announced by the actor-director two years ago, got pushed for various reasons, and the pandemic further delayed the project. In the meanwhile, the makers had plans to change the subject. However, they have now moved back to the old script, which was agreed upon before the pandemic, and which narrates a family drama.

Along with Upendra, the yet-to-be-titled project will have 10 major characters coming into the picture. While a few artistes like Rangayana Raghu and Achyuth Kumar are already on board, the team will be finalising the rest of the actors soon. As for the heroine, Rukmini Vasanth, who was the initial choice, had to exit the project owing to her commitment with Hemanth M Rao's project, and the director is now on a hunt for a new heroine.

The shooting of the film will begin in Belagavi, and it will be canned in three seasons. "We will begin in summer, and wrap it up in early monsoons. A few portions will be covered in Bengaluru city, which blends with the story," says director Shashank, adding that the backdrop moves between a urban and rural setting. For Shashank, who turned producer with the Ajay Rao-starrer Thayige Thakka Maga, this will be his second film made under his home banner. It will have Arjun Janya composing the music.

An official announcement will be made by the makers with a motion poster that will be released on March 14, on the debutant actor's birthday. While CE has got hold of a picture that shows Dushyanth along with Suni at the dubbing studio, more details about the film will be revealed by the makers only in the coming days.

This is the second time the director-producer duo is coming together, after Avatar Purusha, which is currently in the post-production stage. The show marks Reema's second outing with Amazon Prime Video after Made in Heaven. Speaking about the series, the director shares, "Sonakshi is an actor with the ability to seamlessly fit into every character she plays. How Janhvi Kapoor's Roohi look was created

CE FEATURES

IN Roohi, Janhvi Kapoor doubles up as a young girl with a dark spirit stuck inside her. Releasing on March 11, the horror-comedy also features Rajkummar Rao and Varun Sharma.

For the film, Janhvi spent over two hours every day with her makeup team to become the ghostly character in Roohi. There were days when she sat dawn to afternoon decked up in heavy prosthetics, awaiting her shot. Sources close to the crew revealed that as many as 10 different options were considered before zeroing down on Janhvi's final appearance.

Director Hardik Mehta shared, "We did multiple look tests to arrive at a combination of prosthetics and VFX to create the look for Janhvi. What really surprised me was the switch that Janhvi would make as soon as prosthetics would come on her and her whole body language and her voice would change to that of her witch character. I also want to mention here the immense contribution of Nikita Kapoor, our prosthetic artist, and the fabulous team of Red Chillies VFX who have painstakingly put this look together throughout the film."

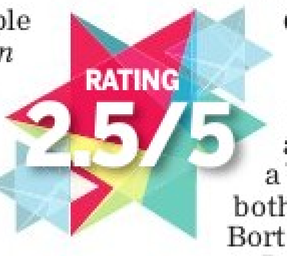
BOMBAY BEGUMS IS INTRICATE BUT UNDERWHELMING

SHILAJIT MITRA



LAST week, Netflix India revealed its slate of upcoming titles. Just scan through the list and you'll find some of our strongest directorial voices climbing aboard — the lure of the long-form drawing them in. Yet that transition isn't always so smooth. Sometimes, it results in a whipping up of material that would've better sailed as a feature film.

After helming a couple of episodes on Made in Heaven (2019), Alankrita Shrivastava has made her full-fledged series debut with Bombay Begums (co-directed by Bornila Chatterjee). I'm not sure if the shift in format entirely works for her. At first glance, her brand of intersecting female narratives – set up in Lipstick Under My Burkha and Dolly Kitty Aur Woh Chamakte Sitare – seems perfect for the form. Her characters — flawed, driven, desirous — routinely merit a closer inspection. Yet that kind of hyperlink storytelling often benefits from a tighter weave. In a show, with tangents and corners to fill, the cross-currents begin to fade.

The six-episode series centers on five ambitious women in Mumbai. We meet each at a crucial juncture in their lives. Rani (Pooja Bhatt), a former bank teller from Kanpur, has been named CEO of 'Royal Bank'. Fatima (Shahana Goswami) is in two minds about a lucrative post; she's expecting a child and feels unsure about managing both. Ayesha (Plabita Borthakur) is a newbie at Rani and Fatima's bank. Bar dancer Lily (Amruta Subhash) wants to secure a future for her son. And there's Shai (Adhaya Anand), Rani's step-daughter, who's just entering her teens.

Throughout, Alankrita immerses us in the sexual and bodily lives of her leads. Rani and Shai stand at opposite ends of their menstrual cycle ("I'm not going through menopause," Rani insists twice). Fatima's pregnancy weighs upon her rocky marriage to Arijay (Vivek Gomber). Ayesha is confused between a co-worker and a female jazz singer she meets. Even Lily, who's turned to prostitution for a living, hinges her hard life on a former lover in Dubai.

BOMBAY BEGUMS
Cast: Pooja Bhatt, Shahana Goswami, Plabita Borthakur, Amruta Subhash, Aadhya Anand
Director: Alankrita Shrivastava

While the characters are fascinating, the show struggles to bind them together imaginatively. There's an overreliance on chance I found particularly grating. After Fatima fires her, Ayesha ends up homeless. She winds up at the bank where Rani hires her back. Rani's step-son injures Lily's son after a tryst with Lily. The early episodes have a constant edge: the heroine in one arc turns up as a villain in another. This is lost once the narrative goes into high gear, with Manish Chaudhary playing a predatory boss and Rahul Bose as Rani's secret lover.

The connections, when lightly made, do strike a chord. The festival of Karva Chauth becomes a view into how each character thinks — and thinks differently. In a magical sequence, Ayesha visits Lily at her chawl (she's helping her set up a factory under the bank's welfare scheme) and watches her perform. "You have a choice to fight," Lily tells her later on. Bombay Begums does grapple with sexual harassment comprehensively — with equal credits to Plabita's performance. Yet the last episode left me unconvinced, a flattening of corporate malice for a sunny finish.

The show's title credits are a delight. We see a cutout of each begum, animated around familiar Mumbai sights: a taxi, Sea Link, Gateway of India. Lily reminiscing about her bar-dancing days gives us a sense of the city's storied past. Equally poignant are the shots of Ayesha, her multiple suitcases around her, drifting from home to home. None of the characters spell out their relationship with the city. Like their deepest bonds, they leave it all unsaid.
